Office hours: Because this is an online course, I will not have face-to-face office hours. I will be available via Blackboard and email (see next sections).

COMMUNICATION

The primary preferred way to communicate with me is via the email above. I will check my email multiple times per day Monday through Friday, and also during weekends. However, please allow 24 hours for a response (48 hours if you send a message Friday evening or during the weekend). Each email you send me should contain a subject line that includes “PSYC 1301”, a proper greeting (i.e., Dear Dr. Abdollahy Zarandi), and your full name. All emails you send me should come from your UTEP email account.

Questions regarding the course and its content are expected to be emailed to me at aabdollahyzarandi@utep.edu. Note: Blackboard has a Course Messages tool, but before using this tool, please try emailing me via aabdollahyzarandi@utep.edu

BLACKBOARD

This course will involve extensive use of Blackboard. I will make announcements regarding the course via Blackboard periodically. Please check Blackboard for announcements (by clicking on the link Announcements) at least twice per day almost every day. Blackboard is also where you will find information about the textbook (see below), recorded lectures, assignments, exams, and other materials relevant to the course. We will also be using the discussion boards on Blackboard to communicate about course topics. When, especially for the first time, you visit Blackboard, look at the left side of the screen (the dark strip) to learn about Announcements -- and also to find the weekly folders for the activities that you are expected to do during a typical week (for example, Week 1, Week 2, etc).

REQUIRED MATERIALS

The adopted textbook for this course is as follows:

<https://openstax.org/details/books/psychology>

When on the textbook link, just click on “View online” or “Download a PDF” or “Table of contents” and access the contents.

BLACKBOARD CONTENT FOLDERS

Each week a beautiful content folder appears on the Blackboard homepage which is named as Week plus the week number -- for example, Week 1, Week 2, etc. You are expected to visit the folder and do all the assigned activities for that week. The activities throughout the semester's weeks look similar: they mostly consist of watching and listening to lectures, watching videos, discussions and summarizations.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course introduces students to a number of subject matters within the science of psychology defined as the scientific study of mental processes and behavior. It includes a concise coverage of a vast array of topics on how we sense, attend, perceive, memorize, retain, remember and learn information and also on how we use that information to create mental concepts and mental images that join hands with language to allow us think intelligently -- in the form of reasoning, inferring, imagining, making judgments, making decisions, and solving problem; a number of mental operations that interact with feelings and motivations to allow us adjust with the environment.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES/OUTCOMES

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

1. Demonstrate an understanding of the scientific basis of psychology.
2. Identify the primary historical figures in the field of psychology.
3. Explain the major theories and empirical findings in the field of psychology.
4. Apply psychological concepts to various real-life situations.
5. Think critically about psychological research findings.

DISABILITY ACCOMMODATIONS

If you have a disability and require accommodation, please contact the Center for Accommodations and Support Services at 915-747-5148 or via e-mail (cass@utep.edu) no later than the first day of class. They will help you with the required paperwork necessary to obtain accommodation.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

Academic dishonesty in any form will not be tolerated. Academic dishonesty includes: cheating on exams or assignments, forgery, and plagiarism. If you pass off someone else's work as your own, work collaboratively on any assignment or assessment that is not specifically described as a group effort, or access course materials not made available to you from the instructor, you are engaging in academic dishonesty. If you are caught engaging in academic dishonesty, you will receive an "F" for the relevant assignment, and you may receive a final grade of "F" for the course. Please review UTEP's policy statement on academic dishonesty:

<https://www.utep.edu/student-affairs/osccr/student-conduct/academic-integrity.html>

ONLINE COURTESY

Students must engage in proper online courtesy. Please respect your fellow classmates and instructor. Even though we do not meet face-to-face, the same courtesies that are extended in a face-to-face learning environment are in place. Failure to engage in proper online courtesy will result in earning a zero for each assignment where the incident occurred.

Each student is expected to be engaged in classroom discussion. While magnitude of participation does not imply quality, you should be well prepared to share insightful comments, constructive criticism, and unique perspective in class, and to do so in a respectful manner.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Please make sure you review the requirements and their associated due dates. I will not accept late work -- unless an acceptable reason is provided.

Watching and Listening to Lectures. The lectures are recorded. Each lecture will review the content of each week's assigned chapters. More information will be provided during the semester.

Watching Videos: To enrich and support the weekly discussions and summarization paper, some videos, for watching, will be posted to blackboard.

Discussions: up to 14 points. There will be one graded discussion board post per week. The graded discussion posts will have prompts or specific discussion questions posted by the instructor. Discussion posts are due at 11:59 pm on the associated due date. Note that most discussion topics require you to make an original post and reply to my questions and a classmate's post. It is highly recommended that you type your discussion posts and responses in a Word document and save them for your reference in case there are any technical problems. In addition to the required posts, you can post questions about the course material on the discussion board or reply to your classmates' questions. Your grade will be based on the quality of your original post and your contribution to the overall discussion (i.e., replying to classmates).

Chapter Summarization: up to 14 points. Each week, you will write, in your own words, a short summarization paper which will be submitted on Blackboard. In this activity, first you read the week's chapters and PowerPoint slides and then summarize the content of the chapters and slides in at least 200 words – answering the question “What did I learn in these chapters?” For the sake of clarity and precision, please divide your summary into 2 paragraphs -- each containing 100 words. Please number the paragraphs as 1 and 2. Each paragraph is expected to begin with these words “In this chapter, I learned that.” And, as mentioned above, your total summary is expected to contain at least 200 words. After writing your paper, you will submit it on Blackboard using the icon named as, for example, “Week 1 Summarization Paper.”

Quizzes: up to 20 points. During the semester, you will take two non-cumulative quizzes. Typically, each quiz's questions will come from the textbook (chapters and slides), but it is also possible that some questions may come from the discussion board topics.

Exams. up to 45 points. During the semester, you will take two non-cumulative midterm and final exams. Typically, each exam's questions will come from the textbook (chapters and slides), but it is also possible that some questions may come from the discussion board topics.

Research Paper: up to 7 points. You will read and summarize a paper on general psychology. Instructions for this assignment will be posted in Blackboard. The research paper will be due by 11:59 pm on December 1, 2022.
