Course Description

- This course is designed to provide the student with a general understanding of past and present Mexican American culture and society; our interdisciplinary course examines education, labor, politics, immigration, and film to better understand how ethnic Mexicans create distinct cultures and identities in the United States.
- Issues such as citizenship, class, gender, and sexuality are also interrogated to increase awareness of the way that Mexican American culture and society constantly redefines itself. Students will develop a number of skills to include critical thinking, reasoning, analysis, and maintaining a point of view, verbally and in writing.
- Additionally, this course will help students develop computer skills, electronic communication skills, critical thinking, and overall writing skill too.

Required Materials

- Readings, video, and podcasts will be available via Blackboard.
- Make sure to set up your VPN network. (Detailed info on the Home Page and further into the syllabus.)

Student Learning Goals and Objectives

In this course students will:

- Develop the critical thinking and analytical skills necessary for effective communication both orally and written.
- Identify, analyze, and articulate the central themes in ethnic Mexican community and identity formation.
- Identify and analyze differences and similarities among ethnic Mexican experiences over time.
- Demonstrate their understanding of the concepts of gender, sexuality, race, and class by using them to identify experiences of privilege and inequality as well as collaboration and conflict, within and between ethnic Mexican communities.
- Use an interdisciplinary approach to connect the past to the present in an effort to better understand the world around them and themselves as global citizens.
- Class Discussion Boards: Class Discussion boards are not graded. The purpose of the boards are to encourage dialogues between colleagues about ideas and thoughts about the assigned materials. Conversations and exchanges of ideas are key to developing one's perspective and understanding to assigned material and critical thought.
- There are a few ground rules for discussions. Whether you are discussing in a group or as a class, please remember that the appeal of higher learning is that we can think and talk, maturely and responsibly, about topics like race, class, gender, and sexuality. Please make an effort to treat each other, and each other's contributions to class discussions, with respect.

Please note: I will make any necessary additions/subtractions to the course work, assignments, reading materials, films, videos, and so forth in the best interest of stated goals and understanding of class materials and ideas.

Learning Module 1: March 22 - 28

- In our first week, we will enter the pool slowly from the shallow end and gradually move forward. So, if you are nervous or cannot swim - no need to worry. I am here to help. While you will do the work, nobody goes at it alone, you are now part of a community of learning. As a collective, we all move forward implementing an /Ollin/, pronounced /o-yeen/. The concept of ollin is a word from Nahuatl /na-wa-tl/, language of the Aztecs, that means forward movement, a positive thing.
- Let's start with an introduction. Introduce yourself in the Ollin Café by Thursday, March 25 @ or before 11:59 pm (MST). Follow my prompt. This is not your typical round of introductions. Accordingly, just follow my lead. ;-)

- The Ollin Café and Help Board are located under the Blackboard Email link on the Home Page - located in the left-hand side of your screen.
- NOTE: The instructor cannot provide technical support. For questions concerning the site and any technical questions or support you must contact Blackboard Tech Support at 1-877-382-0491 and they are available 24/7.
- You will be required to take the Syllabus/Plagiarism Quiz, which will be available Saturday Jan. 27 at 5pm until Sunday, March 28 @ 11:59pm (MST).
- The quiz is based on your reading of the syllabus and the Plagiarism video, which are located in the Table of Contents of the Introduction Learning Module.
