Juveniles in the Justice System
PSYC 6342 – Special Topics in Psychology and the Law
Spring 2019

Professor: April Thomas
Email: athomas5@utep.edu
Office: Jack C. Vowell Hall, room 205
Office hours: by appointment

Course Description and Objectives:

Each year, increasing numbers of children and adolescents around the world come into contact with the legal system as victims, witnesses, and/or defendants. These youth encounter a system designed with adults in mind. This course is intended to provide graduate students with an overview of how the fields of developmental psychology and law intersect. By the end of this course you should understand how developmental characteristics, capacities, and limitations affect juveniles' ability to participate effectively in the legal system; how developmental research and theory can be applied to legal issues; and how legal decisions and policies affect the direction of psychological research concerning children and adolescents. Students will have acquired specific knowledge about the intersection of developmental psychology and the legal system with respect to several topics, including the interrogation of juvenile suspects, developmentally appropriate punishment, how juveniles come to form their attitudes and understanding of the legal system, and the culpability of juvenile offenders. Research relevant to this seminar is interdisciplinary. Thus, this seminar is relevant for students whose research concerns legal psychology/law, developmental psychology, and/or criminology.

The course will cover three general areas:

ADOLESCENT DEVELOPMENT
Guiding questions: What is adolescence? What are the major areas of development that occur during adolescence? What can development tell us about why adolescents take risks and commit crimes? Is delinquency normal?

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY
Guiding questions: Why do juveniles commit crimes? What is the age-crime curve? Are juveniles as responsible for their crimes as adults are?

THE JUVENILE JUSTICE SYSTEM
Guiding questions: How are delinquent youth treated in the justice system? How does the juvenile justice system differ from the criminal justice system? Is the system effective at reducing delinquency? Does the system treat juveniles in ways that are developmentally appropriate?

Readings:
Readings assembled for this seminar (see below) include empirical, theoretical, and review articles, book chapters, and legal materials (e.g., amicus briefs, legal cases). The readings were selected to sample from various disciplines (e.g., psychology, law, criminology); article types (e.g., empirical research, review articles); and research strategies (e.g., laboratory analogs, file reviews, field work). Please be sure to read the assigned readings before the associated class date. The majority of readings can be accessed via the class Blackboard website.

Student Requirements

1. Attendance and participation (20%)
   All students are expected to come to class prepared, having read the assigned readings ahead of time and ready to engage in active discussion of the course material. This course is largely discussion-based; therefore, students are expected to contribute to the discussion in a thoughtful manner that is respectful of other students’ views.

2. Weekly discussions and questions (20%)
   Students must read the assigned material prior to each class and participate in class discussion. Class meetings will focus on reading, thinking critically about, and integrating the readings to understand key developmental principles and topics in juvenile justice and delinquency. To encourage critical thinking and engagement with the material (not just passive absorption of it), students will be required to write between 3-5 questions or comments about the readings. These questions need to be emailed to me by noon on the day before class and should be integrative and thoughtful, demonstrating that students have not only read the material but attempted to integrate the ideas. The questions/comments can tie in prior week’s topics as well.

3. Discussion leader (20%)
   Students will each sign up to independently lead the class discussion of the readings for one week of the course. All students will be required to read the readings ahead of time and engage in class discussion every week; however, it will be the primary responsibility of one student to lead the discussion for his or her designated week. The format of this presentation/discussion is flexible and may be decided by the student.

4. Writing assignment (40%) – DUE APRIL 30th
   a. Select from options below:
      i. Literature review for journal submission. Select a topic related to juvenile delinquency or juvenile justice and conduct a thorough literature review. Prepare a written review for submission according to journal guidelines.

      ii. Grant proposal. Identify an appropriate funding mechanism and follow the guidelines established for that mechanism. Propose a project related to juvenile delinquency or juvenile justice.

      iii. Manuscript for journal submission. Using a dataset (your own, your advisors, mine, a public dataset), you will develop and test a research question and hypothesis relevant to juvenile delinquency or juvenile justice. Identify a journal and prepare a publication-ready manuscript including standard APA sections (Abstract, Introduction, Literature Review, Method, Results, Discussion, References). Aim for 20-35 pages double-spaced (including tables, figures, and references).

      iv. FOR UNDERGRADS ONLY: Write a letter to your local government representative about an issue relevant to developmental psychology and the law. Take a stance on the issue and provide evidence from developmental science to support your arguments. Aim for between 4-6 pages double spaced. Attach an annotated bibliography of 5 sources (in APA format). Sources must be empirical and post-2005.
b. Assignment option and topic must be approved by instructor by February 25. You should indicate which journal or grant you will be submitting to (if appropriate).

Policies
Academic Dishonesty
It is the official policy of the university that all suspected cases or acts of alleged scholastic dishonesty must be referred to the Dean of Students for investigation and appropriate disposition. Any student who commits an act of scholastic dishonesty is subject to discipline. Scholastic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to cheating, plagiarism, collusion, the submission for credit of any work or materials that are attributable in whole or in part to another person, taking an examination for another person, any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student or the attempt to commit such acts. Cheating or plagiarism in this class will result in penalties that may include a letter in the student’s file as well as failing the course. The academic honesty code is available online at: http://sa.utep.edu/osccr/academic-integrity/

Accommodations
If you require accommodation, please contact the Center for Accommodations and Support Services (CASS) at 915-747-5148 or via e-mail (cass@utep.edu) during the first week of the semester or visit their office located in UTEP Union East, Room 106. They will help you with the required paperwork necessary to obtain accommodation. For additional information, please visit the CASS website at www.sa.utep.edu/cass

Discussion Ground Rules
1. Respect Each Other. In order to create a climate for open and honest dialogue and to encourage the broadest range of viewpoints, it is important for class participants to treat each other with respect. Name calling, accusations, verbal attacks, sarcasm, and other negative exchanges are counterproductive to successful teaching and learning about topics.

2. Discuss with the Purpose of Generating Greater Understanding. The purpose of class discussions is to generate greater understanding about different topics. The expression of the broadest range of ideas, including dissenting views, accomplishes this goal. However, in expressing viewpoints, students should try to raise questions and comments in way that will promote learning, rather than defensiveness and conflict in other students.

3. Don’t Personalize the Dialogue. Keep the discussion and comments on the topic, not on the individual. Don’t personalize the dialogue. Rather than personalizing the dialogue, please direct challenging comments or questions to the instructor or the entire class.

4. Agree to Disagree. Remember that it is OK to disagree with each other. The purpose of dialogue and discussion is not to reach a consensus, nor to convince each other of different viewpoints. Rather, the purpose of dialogue in the classroom is to reach higher levels of learning by examining different viewpoints and opinions.

5. Participate and Share. Everyone is expected to share. Keep in mind that the role of the instructor is to make sure that everyone’s voice is heard in class.
COURSE AGENDA & ASSIGNED READINGS

Week 1 – The Juvenile Justice System; Issues in Development and Crime (January 22)

Week 2 - Adolescent Development (January 29)

Week 3 – Adolescent Social Development (February 5)

Optional:

Week 4 – Dual Systems Models of Adolescent Risk Behavior (February 12)
*Syllabus is subject to change.

Week 5 – Social Models of Adolescent Risk Behavior (February 19)

Week 6 – The Role of Context in Juvenile Crime (February 26)

Week 7 – Crime Across the Lifespan (March 5)

Week 8 – Legal Socialization (March 12)

SPRING BREAK (March 19 - no class)

Week 9 - Juvenile Competence & Legal Knowledge (March 26)

Week 10 – Juvenile Confessions and Interrogations (April 2)

*Syllabus is subject to change.

Week 11 – Juvenile Culpability (April 9)

Week 12 – Juvenile Transfer to Criminal Court (April 16)

Week 13 - Effects of Justice Involvement on Youth (April 23)

Week 14 – Developmentally Informed Policy Change (April 30)

Week 15 – Student’s Choice (May 7)

TBD