Course Description and Objectives:

What does the term 'religion' mean? Is it static or does it mean a variety of things depending on the context in which it is used? This course will introduce you to the academic study of religion and current theories of religion in the field of Religious Studies today. Many would argue that the academic study of religion is an essential part of modern discourses about a wide range of topics from politics to private family life. I agree with this argument and this course will not only explain why religious studies is so important, it will also introduce you to how to engage with the challenges that 'religion' presents (and will continue to present) in past, present, and future societies. These challenges include how to read religious texts, how to analyze and engage with truth claims, and how to, generally, engage with religion in the public sphere (politics, social movements, revolutions, etc.). This course will introduce you to the methodology of Religious Studies so as to provide you with a foundational skillset for engaging with the complex world around you.

Required Texts:

Martin, Craig. A Critical Introduction to the Study of Religion. New York: Routledge, 2014.

Pals, Daniel. Ten Theories of Religion. 4th Edition. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2021.

(other required readings will be provided as necessary)

Assignments and Grade Distribution:

30% Participation

20% Midterm Exam

30% Written Assignment (5-6 pages not including title page and bibliography)

20% Final Exam

Assignment Notes:

Participation: Participation points will be given if the student actively participates in the weekly in class discussions and submits the weekly class discussion summary (done in class). This part of your grade is worth 30%. You cannot afford to miss out on the participation assignments.

Midterm Exam: The midterm examination will be based on your readings from the beginning of the course up to the midterm. It will include multiple-choice questions and two essay questions.

Written Assignment: Students are required to submit a 5-6 page written research assignment following these instructions: (1) choose a topic from written assignment topics document in the syllabus course content module/folder (2) write an 5-6 page essay that contains the following; a) an explanation of your object of study; b) take a position and support your central claim using the following: classification, social structure, social practices/habitus, legitimation, authority and authenticity (each of these terms is discussed extensively in the textbook so please use it to guide your analysis). Note: You may choose to write your paper using Chicago, MLA, or APA citation styles. However, you must be consistent throughout your paper. Your paper must contain proper citations and a bibliography/works cited page. You are also required to use at least four peer reviewed sources (not including the textbooks) in your paper.

Final Exam: The final exam will have the same form as the midterm but will be based on the readings assigned in the second half of the semester (i.e., the readings assigned after the midterm).

Grading:

Marks for assignments, tests, and exams are given in percentages, to which letter grades are also assigned, according to the table below. The percentage mark resulting from the entire term work and examination then produces the final letter grade for the course.

Grading Scale

Percentage Grade	Letter Grade	Grade Points
90-100%	A	4.0
80-89%	B	3.0
70-79%	C	2.0
60-69%	D	1.0
0-59%	F	0.0

Academic Standing and Integrity:

The University of Texas at El Paso prides itself on its standards of academic excellence. In all matters of intellectual pursuit, UTEP faculty and students must strive to achieve excellence based on the quality of work produced by the individual. In the classroom and in all other academic activities, students are expected to uphold the highest standards of academic integrity. Any form of scholastic dishonesty is an affront to the pursuit of knowledge and jeopardizes the quality of the degree awarded to all graduates of UTEP. It is imperative, therefore, that the members of this academic community understand the regulations pertaining to academic integrity and that all faculty insist on adherence to these standards.

Any student who commits an act of scholastic dishonesty is subject to discipline. Scholastic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, collusion, the submission for credit of any work or materials that are attributable in whole or in part to another person, taking an examination for another person, and any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student or the attempt to commit such acts. Proven violations of the detailed regulations, as printed in the Handbook of Operating Procedures (HOP) (available through the Dean of Students Office) may result in sanctions ranging from disciplinary probation, to failing a grade on the work in question, to a failing grade in the course, to suspension or dismissal, among others.” (“Academic Standing,” for more information, please visit <http://academics.utep.edu/Default.aspx?tabid=61879&submenuheader=1>)

A Note on the Use of Artificial Intelligence (AI)

The use of AI software such as (but not limited to) ChatGPT is prohibited in this course. Written work produced using AI software of any kind will be treated as an instance of plagiarism. Students will receive a zero on the assignment and the matter will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct for adjudication.

Policy for Late Assignments:

Students who consult with me in advance regarding expected issues preventing the timely completion of an assignment may, at my discretion, be granted an extension. Otherwise, late assignments will not be accepted.
