Prerequisites: MUST 2219, admission to upper-level Theory & Composition program, approval of department

Course Materials

- Pencil and manuscript paper
- Scores and excerpts for analysis will be provided or placed on reserve at the UTEP library.

Course Description

- MUST 3319 is a course focused on composition for students admitted as majors in the Theory & Composition program. Students will develop more advanced compositional techniques and work with larger forms, larger ensembles, and more complex harmony. Through private and group study, students will explore new paths in their compositional work and seek to develop a personal musical voice.

Course Objectives

- Students will demonstrate an understanding of traditional and contemporary compositional techniques through the analysis of works from the standard literature.
- Students will complete assigned compositional projects that demonstrate their proficiency in handling melody, harmony, rhythm, form, texture, and musical style at a more advanced level.
- Students will learn to write idiomatically for selected musical instruments, in the context of more varied and larger ensembles.
- Students will implement proper conventions in preparing a score for performance and gain experience in organizing a public presentation of their compositions.

Course Outline

- Lessons. During the semester, MUST 3319 students will meet for weekly lessons, some weeks individually with the instructor and other weeks as a group, to discuss various compositional topics and/or to present current projects. You are expected to come to lessons/meetings on time, having prepared any writing, listening, and analysis assignments. Specific guidelines for composition assignments will be given weekly.

At lessons, you are expected to be able to answer any questions about the musical features of what you have written in your compositions — melody, harmony, rhythm texture, form, etc. Failure to explain clearly the technical aspects of your work on more than two occasions is grounds for dismissal from MUST 3319 and a semester grade of 'F'.

- Analysis Assignments. Each week you will be required to study a piece of music of your choice and explain what you have learned about the technique of composition from this analysis. Other short assignments focusing on specific aspects of compositional craft may be given. Students electing a fourth semester of MUST 3319 and who are in the process of preparing their senior recitals are exempt from this requirement.
- Concert Attendance. You should make every effort to attend as many concerts as possible, especially concerts that involve contemporary compositions. Attendance at specific concerts may be required. Information regarding these concerts will be announced during the semester.

* An unexcused absence for a lesson or concert will result in the lowering of your overall semester grade by one letter grade. More than two unexcused absences of any kind will result in dismissal from MUST 3319 and a semester grade of 'F'.

Semester Schedule

- A regular weekly meeting time will be arranged. Dates for recitals and other required events will be announced during the semester.

GRADING

- Grades will be based on assignments and composition projects. Both the musical content and preparation of the score will be assigned a letter grade, based on the following outline.

	Musical Content	Notation and Preparation of Score
A (EXCELLENT WORK)	All assignments and projects are completed with careful attention to detail . Compositions demonstrate a command of melody, harmony, rhythm, form, texture, and style appropriate for the assignment or project. Only a few minor errors (up to 10% of the total work) in musical elements (e.g., chord voicing, harmonic progression, form, texture, voice leading, idiomatic use of instruments, etc.).	Score and parts are neat and professional in appearance. Careful attention to detail is given in observing correct notational convention (dynamics, articulation, marks of expression, tempo indications, etc.). Only a few minor errors (up to 10% of the total work) in notational convention (e.g., stem direction, placement of dynamics, marks of expression, etc.) or neatness (formatting, spacing, etc.).
B (ABOVE-AVERAGE WORK)	All assignments and projects are completed and meet general expectations. There may be a few more errors or deficiencies in the handling of musical elements than at the 'A' level, though any problems are minor and not consistent . Overall the pieces demonstrate a high level of compositional craftsmanship.	Score and parts are neat in appearance, though there may be a few more problems in neatness, formatting, or notational convention than at the 'A' level. These problems, though, are all minor and not consistent (e.g., occasional problems with neatness, missing dynamics & slurs, etc.).
C (AVERAGE WORK)	All assignments are completed, though there may be more numerous and/or more consistent minor errors or deficiencies. Inappropriate 'cutting and pasting' of sections would fall under this category. Compositions are finished works that still demonstrate basic competence in compositional craftsmanship.	Score and parts are legible and usable for performance, though there may be more numerous and/or more consistent minor problems in neatness, formatting, or notational convention (e.g., missing articulations & dynamics, poor spacing, formatting, etc.).
D (BELOW-AVERAGE WORK)	Assignments are completed, though the amount and quality of work falls clearly below expectations and guidelines for assignments. Errors and problems with the handling of musical elements may be more extensive.	Score and parts are still usable for performance, but may have more extensive problems in neatness, formatting, or notational convention.
F	Significant incomplete work or lack of mastery of compositional craft.	Score and parts are difficult to read for performers, with extensive major problems in neatness, notational convention, etc.

- The letter grade will then be converted into a numerical grade as follows, with the number indicating more specifically the level of work within each letter grade:

A = 90% up to 100% B = 80% up to 90% C = 70% up to 80% D = 60% up to 70% F = Below 60%

Each component of the above outline will be equally weighted in determining the final grade, which will be assigned according to the outline below.

Grading Scale

90% and above	A
80% up to 90%	B
70% up to 80%	C
60% up to 70%	D
Below 60%	F

- All weekly analysis assignments must be completed. Missing analysis assignments will result in the lowering of the overall grade by 1% per missing assignment.
 - For students with final grades within 1% of the next grade level (59%, 69%, 79%, 89%), the instructor may assign a higher grade if the student has (1) attended class regularly, (2) demonstrated consistent effort in mastering class material, and (3) shown improvement throughout the semester.
- Census Day is the last day to drop a course without a grade of 'W'.
 - A grade of 'W' will be reported only if the student withdraws from the course by the Course Drop Deadline.
 - A grade of 'I' will be reported only if extenuating circumstances (extended illness, legal matters, emergency) prevent the student from completing the course. An 'I' will not be given as a substitute for a failing grade. The student and instructor will determine a timetable for completion of all course requirements in a time frame that is in accordance with UTEP policy.
 - Academic Dishonesty. Cheating is unethical, not acceptable, and a serious matter. Students found to be cheating will be subject to disciplinary action according to UTEP policy. For more information, please see <http://sa.utep.edu/osccr/academic-integrity/>.
 - Special Needs. I will make any reasonable accommodations for students with limitations due to disabilities, including learning disabilities. Please see me personally before or after class in the first two weeks or make an appointment to discuss any special needs you might have. If you have a documented disability and require specific accommodations, you will need to contact the Center for Accommodations and Support Services (CASS) at 747-5148 or at cass@utep.edu, or stop by at Room 106 in the Union East Building.
- PLEASE NOTE: The information on this syllabus is subject to change. Any changes (e.g., dates of exams, subjects covered) will be announced in class and/or via email.
