Course Description

This course considers research in political science, with a focus on the evaluation and creation of research. We will study the different stages of the research process, with an emphasis on the selection of topics and research questions, the development of arguments, the evaluation and implementation of research designs, data analysis, and the reporting of the findings.

Professional development is another key component of the course. Students will have the opportunity to exercise key professional skills and abilities, including writing skills, verbal communication skills, networking skills, analytical skills, skills in quantitative and qualitative analysis, and the ability to create an effective resume.

Throughout the course, we will focus on developing answers to the following four questions: (1) How do I pick a topic and research question in political science? (2) How do I collect and analyze data? (3) How do I describe my project and communicate the results to others? (4) How do I prepare for my future professional career?

Learning Objectives

By the end of the semester, students should be able to:

- Identify and explain the different stages of the research process.
- Compare different research methods and evaluate the quality of a research design.
- Perform data analysis in Stata and conduct interviews.
- Write a research paper on a topic in political science.
- Recognize the importance of acquiring and exercising professional skills.

Required Reading (available at the UTEP Bookstore or elsewhere):

- Political Science Research in Practice
 - Editors: Akan Malici and Elizabeth S. Smith
 - 1st edition
 - 2013
 - ISBN-13: 978-0415887731

Course Requirements

- Quizzes: The two quizzes will consist of short answer questions and/or data analysis exercises, and it will cover material from the class lectures, course readings, short assignments, and/or class discussions. The date of each quiz is indicated in the Schedule of Classes (10% of grade).
- Research Proposal: Students will be required to write a research proposal that describes their chosen topic, research question, argument, and research design for the research paper. The deadline for the research proposal is indicated in the Schedule of Classes. Late proposals will be penalized one full letter grade for each class day that they are late (10% of grade).
- Research Paper: Students will be required to write a research paper on a topic in political science. The deadline for the research paper is indicated in the Schedule of Classes. Late papers will be penalized one full letter grade for each class day that they are late. A late paper that is not turned by the start of the final class day will receive zero credit (30% of grade).
- Presentation: Students will be required to give an individual, in-class presentation on their research project and main findings. The potential dates for the class presentations are indicated in the Schedule of Classes. Students will be able to provide input to the instructor on which date they prefer for their presentation, but unfortunately it is not possible to guarantee that all students will receive their preferred date(s) (10% of grade).
- Short Assignments: The short assignments will consist of calculations, data analysis exercises, and/or data collection efforts. Topics for the short assignments will include basic calculations, the description of variables, the creation of graphs, summary statistics, correlation analysis, significance tests, and the collection of data through interviews. Each late assignment will only receive, at most, half credit if it is turned in by the start of the next class day. A late paper that is not turned in by the start of the next class day will receive zero credit (20% of grade).
- Class Attendance and Participation: Students will be able to earn participation points each class session by attending and participating in class discussions. Points will be awarded based on the quantity and quality of participation (20% of grade).

University Policies

This instructor abides by university policies, such as excused absences and attendance, as stated in the UTEP undergraduate catalog: <http://catalog.utep.edu/undergrad/academic-regulations/curriculum-and-classroom-policies/>. It is the student's responsibility to understand their rights and university policies. In addition to university policies, I add the following policies below.

Attendance Policy

UTEP expects that students will not miss classes without valid excuses. Students will be asked to sign an attendance sheet for each class meeting. It is expected that you do not miss classes, which will result in a penalty to your grade. More specifically, after two unexcused absences, I will begin to deduct points from your attendance and participation grade for each subsequent unexcused absence. Note that the class participation portion of each student's grade is left solely to the discretion of the instructor.

Here are specific situations of absence and whether or not excuses will be accepted as valid or not:

- Valid university excuses include religious holy days, officially recognized university activities (with Dean of Students letter), and military leave. Students must follow the required documentation procedure for each valid university excuse.
- The instructor reserves the right to accept, or not, excuses related to medical issues. Naturally, it is not usually feasible to document in advance any time lost due to illness. The exception is planned surgeries and appointments (not normal check-ups). Any class time missed will not be excused without medical or other valid documentation. Documentation from Mexico is permissible. Students with severe medical problems that result in missing a majority of the semester may want to consider a complete withdrawal from the university for medical purposes.
- Absences due to conflicts with work, child care, etc. that make it impossible for you to regularly attend this class are not permitted. If you know you will have scheduling conflicts with this class, then you should make other arrangements or postpone this class until a future semester.
- According to UTEP Curriculum and Classroom Policies, "When, in the judgment of the instructor, a student has been absent to such a degree as to impair his or her status relative to credit for the course, the instructor can drop the student from the class with a grade of W before the course drop deadline and with a grade of F after the course drop deadline."
- Missed quizzes or presentations due to family hardship or family medical problems may not be accepted by the instructor as valid excuses. For example, helping family members move, picking up at the airport, driving family members to medical appointments when you know they conflict with class, and other such activities, will not be permitted as valid excuses. Emergencies such as deaths in the family must be documented, unfortunately.
- Missing any course assessments and work due to vacations and pre-booked travel arrangements are not valid excuses.

Quizzes Policy

The dates of the quizzes are listed below in the Schedule of Classes. No make-up quizzes will occur without a student having provided to the instructor valid documentation explaining or excusing the absence. The instructor has the discretion to decide if a make-up is allowable outside the university excused absences. If you miss a quiz due to an emergency or illness, you must notify me (and confirm with me that I have received your notification attempt) as soon as possible to arrange a make-up quiz. A make-up quiz may be of a different format than the original quiz.

Research Proposal

A research proposal is a detailed plan for a research project. In the research proposal, you will have the opportunity to describe your proposed topic in political science, research question, relevant literature, argument, research design, and references for the research paper. The instructor will provide feedback on the research proposal, so that students will be able to incorporate the suggestions into the research paper. Note that students are not allowed to begin collecting or analyzing data until the research proposal has been approved by the instructor. Further details and instructions will be provided in class (~1000 words, worth 10% of overall grade). Printed copy is due on 10/6 (at the start of class).

Research Paper

In the research paper, you will have the opportunity to implement the approved research project that you proposed in the research proposal. Note that students are not allowed to begin collecting or analyzing data until the research proposal has been approved by the instructor. The research paper will include an introduction, research question, main argument, literature review, description of the research design, the main findings, discussion, conclusion, and references. Further details and instructions will be provided in class (minimum 15 pages to maximum 20 pages, worth 30% of overall grade). Printed copy is due on 11/22 (at the start of class).

Other Course Policies and Expectations

- Debate and discussion are important in the critical evaluation of politics. It is expected that students will treat the instructor and other students with respect, including refraining from disparaging remarks, personal insults, derogatory comments, and other unprofessional behavior, in person or electronically. Any problem related to rude conduct, or any threats to violence, etc., likely will result in the student being dropped from the course by the instructor.
- Outside work and other non-class related activities are not permitted in our classroom.
- If you engage in behaviors that distract others or create a disturbance, you will be asked to leave the class. If you refuse to leave class, university police will be contacted.
- Cell phone/smart phone/PDA usage is not permitted during quizzes or at other times when it might pose a class disturbance. Laptops, tablets, or other electronic devices used for note-taking and/or class exercises are permissible, but students using such must not engage in any activities that disturb other students.

Email Protocol

When emailing me, please put the course and section number in the subject line. In the body of your email, clearly state your question. At the end of your email, be sure to put your first and last name. Please do not email me about information you can obtain from the syllabus. I generally do not answer substantive material from lectures or readings via email, as it is not an effective means of communicating. If there is class material you are confused about, please come see me during my office hours.

Academic Integrity and Dishonesty

As stated in the UTEP undergraduate catalog, “Any student who commits an act of academic dishonesty is subject to discipline. Academic dishonesty includes, and is not limited to cheating, plagiarism, collusion, the submission for credit of any work or materials that are attributable in whole or in part to another person, taking an examination for another person, and any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student or the attempt to commit such acts. Proven violations of the detailed regulations, as printed in the Handbook of Operating Procedures (HOP), and available in the Office of Student Life and on the homepage of the Office of Student Life at www.utep.edu/dos, can result in sanctions ranging from disciplinary probation, to a failing grade on the work in question, to a failing grade in the course, to suspension or dismissal, among others.”

Students with Different Abilities

If you have a disability and need classroom accommodations, please contact The Center for Accommodations and Support Services (CASS) at 747-5148, or by email to cass@utep.edu, or visit their office located in UTEP Union East, Room 106. For additional information, please visit the CASS website at www.sa.utep.edu/cass. CASS’ staff are the only individuals who can validate, and if need be, authorize accommodations for students with disabilities. The student is responsible for presenting to the instructor any CASS accommodation letters and instructions before arrangements need to be made for exams or other needs.
