III. COURSE CONTENT

A. COURSE DESCRIPTION: Understanding and appreciating film as a unique medium for communication and artistic expression. Introduces students to a broad range of types of film. Basic theory presented in class. Films viewed in class and on campus and discussed in class.

B. COURSE OBJECTIVES: Students will study a variety of motion pictures in terms of becoming an informed viewer. Emphasis will be placed on aspects of social relevancies, techniques, and themes used in films. The coursework combines lectures and readings covering technical and theoretical information that can be applied to the films shown in class and to other realms such as academic disciplines, media, and social settings. In addition, students will be introduced to film practices and terms to broaden their appreciation and understanding of motion picture as an art and industry.

C. LEARNING OUTCOMES: Students will develop a broadly interdisciplinary approach to understanding film and its role in society, will be conversant in the history of cinema and able to provide context for other works they encounter, competent in employing theoretical and disciplinary tools in the analysis and assessment of films, and capable of developing critical responses to aesthetic or cultural values of cinematic work.

D. METHOD OF INSTRUCTION: lectures, film screenings, group discussion, and written analyses.

E. ASSIGNED READINGS: 1 textbook chapter per class.

E. ASSIGNMENTS: Students will write one 2 page essay worth 10 points of their grade according to the following scale based on course assignments:
