III. COURSE CONTENT

A. COURSE DESCRIPTION: A workshop where students will be introduced to the tools and discipline necessary to write tightly structured, dramatic scenes in order to tell stories through moving images, dramatic action, characterization, and dialogue. Each student will also write two short screenplays intended for minimal production. Emulation of the broadest possible spectrum of film styles and approaches is encouraged.

- B. COURSE OBJECTIVES: Students will learn the fundamentals of professional screenplay structure and formatting, story and plot development, character development, dialogue, conflict, style, visual narrative, seeing through the camera, screen vocabulary, and technique required for the writing of feature-length screenplays.
- C. LEARNING OUTCOMES: Students will demonstrate aptitude in storytelling techniques and expertise in skillful communication and self-expression, giving constructive feedback to peers, contextualize their own choices within dramatic and cinematic literary history and theory, and manifest a personal approach to the techniques of dramatic writing.

Assessment tool: Final script writing project in FILM 3315
Standard: 80% will receive an A, B, or C grade on final paper

- D. METHOD OF INSTRUCTION: lectures, group projects, group discussion, oral presentations.
