Course Description:

This course is an interdisciplinary examination of the socioeconomic, political, and cultural forces that affect the status of Chicanas in the U.S. Special consideration will be given to the role of Chicanas in the Women's and Chicano Movements, as well as the Mexicana/Chicana confluence in the U.S.-Mexico border region. Additionally, this course pays close attention to the categories of gender and sexuality as well as feminist theory to better understand how Chicana identities challenge and negotiate American norms.

Student Learning Outcomes:

By the end of the class, students will:

1. Develop the critical thinking and analytical skills necessary for effective communication both orally and written.
2. Identify, analyze, and articulate the central themes in Chicana identity and community formation.
3. Understand theories of race, class, ethnicity, and gender in the shaping of both geo-political and metaphorical borders.
4. Connect the past to the present in an effort to better understand the world around them.
5. Interact and collaborate with people of diverse backgrounds in open and respectful ways.

The guiding questions for this course are the following: What is Chicana identity? What are the historical events that define Chicana identity? How do space and time inform identity formation?

Required Texts:

- Erika L. Sánchez, I Am Not Your Perfect Mexican Daughter, (New York: Knopf, 2017).
- Christine Granados, Brides and Sinners in El Chuco, (Tucson: University of Arizona Press, 2006).
- Additional required readings located on Blackboard.

Students are responsible for all readings and must bring a copy to class, either digital or print.

Course Requirements:

1. Attendance and Discussion: You are expected to attend class and be there on time; Completion of the course depends on your attendance. If you miss a class period, it is your responsibility to obtain handouts (from the instructor) and notes (from a fellow student). There are a few ground rules for discussion. Whether you are discussing in a group or as a class, please remember that the appeal of higher learning is that we can think and talk, maturely and responsibly about topics like race, class, gender, and sexuality. Please treat each other, and each other's contributions to class discussions, with respect.

- 2. Quizzes (20%): There will be quizzes throughout the semester based on the readings and videos. The quizzes are intended to gauge your ability to keep up with the readings and videos and to ensure that you are attending class as required. There are no make-ups for quizzes.
- 3. Midterm Exam (25%): There is a midterm exam scheduled for October 18, 2018. The midterm will cover the first 8-weeks of the course calendar. There are no make-ups for exams.
- 4. Photo Blogs (25%): Throughout the semester each student will keep a journal in Blackboard that consists of photo blogs. In this journal, students will provide individual journal entries that consist of a photo taken by the student and accompanied by a short blog. I will provide detailed instructions for each photo blog throughout the semester. See Course Calendar for due dates. Deadline to submit the journal entries will be 11:59pm of the due date.
- 5. Photo Essay (30%): For the final project, students will be placed into groups of four and together will create a photo essay made up of the photos used in the photo blog journal entries. The Group Photo Essay is due on December 7, 2018 by 11:59pm and will be submitted in Blackboard. The Group Photo Essay needs to reflect and explain the role of "La Chicana" in the United States. This essay will consist of the two most unique photos submitted by each group member for the journal entries. I will provide a detailed assignment sheet and grading rubric.

Grading Scale: Final grades will be given according to the student's demonstrated level of mastery of the subject matter as determined by assignments, class discussion, and attendance. The assignments for this course are based on a scale of 100 points. Letter grades will be assigned according to the following scale:

A: 90-100 B: 80-89 C: 70-79 D: 60-69 F: 0-59

GRADUATE CREDIT FOR THIS COURSE: In order to obtain graduate credit for this course, you must satisfactorily complete a graduate level project with a topic and parameters approved beforehand by the course instructor.

Class Policies:

- 1. Attendance: Attendance and participation in class are required. Should you miss a class, you are still responsible for everything that is covered in that class. Missing class or being late is no excuse for missing a due date or misunderstanding an assignment. Therefore, you will want to contact a classmate, not the instructor, to find out what you missed.
- 2. Dropping the Class: Students may drop the class and receive a "W" any time prior to October 5, 2018.
- 3. Academic Dishonesty: Academic dishonesty is prohibited and is considered a violation of the UTEP Handbook of Operating Procedures. It includes, but is not limited to cheating, plagiarism, and collusion. Cheating may involve copying from or providing information to another student, processing unauthorized materials during a test, or falsifying research data on laboratory reports. Plagiarism occurs when someone intentionally or knowingly represents the words or ideas of another person's as one's own. Collusion, involves collaborating with another person to commit any academically dishonest act. Any act of academic dishonesty attempted by a UTEP student is unacceptable and will not be tolerated. Violations will be taken seriously and will be referred to the Dean of Students Office for disciplinary action. Students may be suspended or expelled from the University for such actions.

4. Student Support Services: If you have a documented special needs and require specific accommodations you will need to contact the Center for Accommodations and Support Services (CASS) at 747-5148, or by email to cass@utep.edu, or visit their office located in UTEP Union East, Room 106 within the first two weeks for classes. For additional information please visit the CASS website at www.sa.utep.edu/cass. I will make any reasonable accommodations for students with limitations due to special needs, including all learning special needs. Please see me personally before or after class in the first two weeks or make an appointment, to discuss any special needs you might have.
5. Student Conduct: [From the Handbook of Operating Procedures: Student Affairs]: Each student is responsible for notice of and compliance with the provisions of the Regents Rules and Regulations, which are available for inspection electronically at <http://www.utsystem.edu/bor/rules/homepage.htm>.

We will have frequent discussions and students are expected to tolerate and respect the opinions of others. All students are expected to behave as responsible adults.

Please SILENCE cell phones before class and NO TEXT MESSAGING and/or FACEBOOKING during class!!!
