

HSCI 1301 CRN 16967 Foundations of Health Sciences and Health Promotion

---

1. Professor Concha is an amazing professor. She sparked an interest for me about public health when I initially thought it would be something incredibly boring. I will say I do have a hard time understanding her assignment instructions. Other than you she herself and her class are very interesting.

2. Dr. Concha is truly amazing. As my first class in public health, she taught me so much about the basics. What I like the most about her class is how much she cares about us pursuing opportunities for career development. She is so knowledgeable, and her expertise in diabetes is very useful. I hope to have her as a professor again.

3. Great professor! Very knowledgeable and passionate about the information being taught in class.

4. I really liked the amount of research and real-life roleplay we did for most of our assignments. It made it better to connect and understand the subject matter.

5. A very interactive class along with instructor. Would recommend class to other public health majors/ minors.

6. Professor Concha was amazing at getting all students to interact with each other and participate in the class. She was amazing at explaining each course and I was able to understand everything very clearly.

7. Overall great course and amazing professor. Good communication and seems like she loves what she does, this is good because it made the course amazing and not that difficult.

8. Liked the course, very engaging and lots of participation to make sure you actually learn. The professor herself, you could tell she's passionate about the course, thus making it more interesting.

9. This course with Professor Concha I'd say was more interesting than anything. She made all assignments mainly involving group work which definitely helped the material stick more. I also enjoyed it because we were not just reading material but actually learning more thoroughly and effectively. This course taught me multiple things to be aware of and to implement in my day to day life. Overall I would definitely take this course with Professor Concha again.

10. Very very well taught course. Instructor is unfathomably kind and understanding and most importantly, knowledgeable and excited to teach about what she does. Very enjoyable course for me. Intellectually challenging and fun!