II. Purpose of the Course

- This course studies U.S.-Mexico Border Security and the role of Homeland Security and Criminal Justice in securing the border. This course focusses on the impact of globalization on crime with special emphasis on human, drug, and arms trafficking along the U.S.-Mexico Border. Further emphasis will be made on comparative examples from border regions around the world with close description and analysis on drug cartels, criminal gangs, and government corruption. This course will also provide an overview of the future of borders and boundaries in the United States.

III. Course Objectives

After completion of the course, students will be able to:

- Define security comprehensively as it refers to the border region, giving consideration to distinctions between national, homeland, and human security
- Understand the various definitions of “borders”, including geographical, political, and economic
- Understand what “border security” actually is, in relation to different types of borders and how the concept developed historically

- Understand Border Patrol Operations, from 1904 to present day
- Understand present-day physical border security, including the various Border Fences, Operation Gatekeeper, and the effects of illegal immigration
- Describe the contribution of intelligence analysis to border security
- Describe maritime border security, the relationship between border security and transnational crime, transportation security as impacted by borders, and “solutions” to security along both the southern and northern borders of the United States
