Course Description: This course focuses on proportional and algebraic reasoning for prospective elementary teachers. Topics include ratios as measures, ratios as multiplicative comparisons, proportions, rates of change, patterns, linear functions and solving linear equations, inequalities and systems. The focus is on identifying relationships between quantities in contextualized problems, using inductive reasoning to identify patterns and express them algebraically making connections among verbal, graphic, numeric and symbolic representations, solving problems, using concrete numeric, tabular, graphic and algebraic methods, and addressing student's misconceptions and errors.
Course Objectives: Students will
(a) deepen their understanding of ratios, proportions, change, and functions by explaining why and making connections;
(b) strengthen their quantitative reasoning and algebraic reasoning;
(c) conceive mathematics as a problem solving endeavor that involves sense-making and thinking; and
(d) develop the habit of attending to meaning, of analyzing problem situations, and of making conjectures and providing justifications.
Course Activities/Assignments: Students will participate in in-class activities, read and understand assigned readings, create and maintain a folder of notes and resources, watch video clips and answer questions, turn-in homework assignments, take pre-class assessments and prepare for in-class assessments and exams.

Assessment of Course Objectives:
- Pre-class assessments are to be taken at least 3 hours prior to a class. In-class assessments are administered at the beginning of a class. The questions in these assessments are designed to assess your understanding of the assigned reading of the text and the materials discussed in class.
- Homework is assigned via Blackboard after each class. Homework assignments are collected on Mondays.
- (Optional) Folder of notes and reflections is due towards the end of the semester. Students are expected to (1) write summaries of important ideas based on their understanding of in-class discussions and assigned readings; (2) fix mistakes in their returned assignments, assessments, and exams; (3) compile notes, handouts, and printed materials, and (4) write reflections about mathematical teaching and learning.
- Examinations are based on your understanding of the concepts and not based on how well you remember to solve certain problems. Most problems in exams require you to think and apply your understanding; they are not necessarily similar to homework problems or in-class problems. To compensate for the higher-cognitive demand questions, the following scale is used for exams:
  - A
    \[ \geq 80\% \]
  - B
    \[ 70\% - 80\% \]
  - C
    \[ 60\% - 70\% \]
  - D
    \[ 45\% - 60\% \]
  - F
    \[ < 45\% \]
- The final examination is comprehensive.
