COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is an introduction to education for emergent bilingual students (or English learners, ELs, students who are proficient in a language other than English and are learning English in school). It focuses on the theory and practice of bilingual education and of the instruction of English as a second language. Included are the identification of program models in bilingual/ESL education; their historical, legislative, and philosophical foundations; instructional frameworks for various programs; and, in particular, the implementation of bilingual instruction with US-Mexico border populations. At its core, this course is about advancing social justice and educational equity in the ways we use and teach language in schools.

PREREQUISITE

Admission to Teacher Education is required before taking this course, and this course is required before taking other BED courses on all education degree plans.

PURPOSE OF THE COURSE

This course is designed to prepare future educators with the foundational knowledge (history), conceptual understandings (philosophy), and current mandates and program model information (law and pedagogy) regarding the education of English language learners (ELLs) in the United States, and specifically in the state of Texas. All educators—general education, elementary, middle school, secondary, literacy education, special education, gifted education, bilingual education, ESL education, counselors, and administrators—share the responsibility for the schooling of bilingual students.

COURSE ALIGNMENT WITH COLLEGE MISSION AND VISION

This course aligns with the University's and College of Education's mission and vision in addressing the preparation of educators with a special emphasis on and support for student learning and development within linguistically and culturally diverse border region settings. It provides students with opportunities to apply knowledge of bilingual/ELL education as they develop and deliver presentations and teaching activities that are aligned to the state standards for educators. In line with the College of Education's Roadmap to the Future (2017) the course prepares students to address and advocate for diverse learners by understanding how linguistic issues are part of social justice.

COURSE LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The objective of this course is for students to develop understanding of the following topics and the ability to begin applying this understanding in all areas of teaching:

- History of bilingual education in the United States and in Texas, including landmark court cases, and its impact on current legislation in Texas, as well as nationally;
- Philosophies underlying the concept of bilingual education and ESL Instruction;
- Legal foundations of bilingual education and teaching English language learners, including federal and state policy;

- The sociocultural characteristics and diversity of ELs;
- Asset-based approaches to identifying ELs, their languages/languageing, and bilingualism;
- Bilingual/dual-language/ESL program models;
- The subsystems of language and terminology for talking about language;
- Language acquisition and the role of L1 in L2 learning;
- Teaching oral language, reading, and writing with ELs;
- Approaches to content-area instruction for ELs (e.g., sheltered instruction, comprehensible input);
- Assessment of language proficiency and appropriate assessment of ELs' content knowledge;
- Texas teaching standards, domains, and competencies for bilingual education and English as a second language; EC-6 and 4-8.

REQUIRED COURSE MATERIALS

Wright, W.E. (2015). 2nd Edition. Foundations for Teaching English Language Learners: Research, Theory, Policy, and Practice. Caslon: Philadelphia. [Purchase the hard copy or e-book, be sure that you have the second edition.]

You will need to access (and know where to access!) the following standards and assessment materials from the Texas Education Agency:

- LPAC Decision-Making Resources available at <http://tea.texas.gov/student.assessment/ell/lpac/>
- Educator Guide to TELPAS Grades K-12 (2011) available at <http://tea.texas.gov/student.assessment/ell/telpas/>.
- Chapter 89: Adaptations for Special Populations Subchapter BB: Commissioner's Rules Concerning State Plan for Educating English Language Learners available at <http://ritter.tea.state.tx.us/rules/tac/chapter089/ch089bb.html>.
- English Language Proficiency Standards (ELPS) available at <http://ritter.tea.state.tx.us/rules/tac/chapter074/ch074a.html#74.4>.
- Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) for your grade(s) and/or content area(s) of interest, available at <http://tea.texas.gov/curriculum/teks/>.

TEXES exam preparation materials: You are required to access some materials that will acquaint you with the TExES certification exams. At a minimum, you must access the materials available for free through the ETS website: <http://cms.texas-ets.org/prepmaterials/>.

Additional readings are listed in the course schedule (below) and will be available on Blackboard (BB).

ASSIGNMENTS

Participation and attendance

(9% of grade)

[75 points, 15 sessions at 5 points each] Your success in this course depends upon your active participation, which includes the following:

- Being present for the full class session in each of the 15 weeks we meet, including arriving on time and staying until the end¹.
- Reading thoroughly the required reading for each class session before that session and demonstrating your preparation throughout each class session.
- Thinking carefully about the reading and coming prepared with questions, reflections, and connections between the reading and with other material in this or other courses.
- Extensive verbal participation in each class session, including the contribution of your ideas/questions/reflections as well as verbal engagement with others' ideas/questions/reflections.
- Extensive non-verbal participation in each class session, including demonstrating active listening, thoughtful engagement, and growth across each discussion.

Educational research shows that our deepest and most meaningful learning happens in interaction with other people. In your future work as an educator, you will need to design your teaching so that students participate meaningfully, as I design my teaching of this course with the objective that you participate meaningfully. In this component of your grade you will pay attention to your participation, striving for the above, and reflecting on your experience as a participating learner so that it informs your work as a teacher.

Weekly reading quizzes (WRQs)

(16% of grade)

[130 points, 13 quizzes at 10 points each] All assigned readings are required, essential, and MUST be done before each class session. At the beginning of each class session you will take a quiz based on the readings for the day. The quizzes are created to see if you've done the assigned reading for the day, and they will focus on the key terms and guiding questions appearing at the beginning of each chapter (and occasionally important terms appearing in the chapter but not listed at the beginning). The WRQs are designed to ensure that you read before class and that you come to class with some preliminary knowledge of the concepts that will be discussed that day. You will not be allowed to make up any missed quizzes.

WRQ1 which is given in Week 2 will be worth 5 points. You will receive the other 5 points for the short pre-course writing assignment (see the question on BB) due to BB in Week 2.

Scenario solutions (SS)

(9% of grade)

[75 points, 15 SSs at 5 points each] This activity will be done at the end of each class session in small groups. In the activity, you are presented with a scenario, one question about that scenario, and four multiple choice answers. Questions are similar to those appearing on the

¹ See attendance policies in policies and procedures section.

TEXES Bilingual Education Supplemental (164) certification exam. I strongly recommend browsing the “TEXES/Scenario solutions resources” folder on BB as a way of being prepared for the scenario solutions. As a group, you will discuss, debate, dialogue, and problem-solve to determine the best answer to your question. Then you will choose the answer as a group, but you will also need to give a well-thought out rationale for choosing the answer you did, and then a rationale for each answer you did not choose. That is, your group will need to construct responses telling me WHY you chose the answer you did as a group and WHY you believe it is the answer, and then tell me WHY you DID NOT choose the other answers and WHY you believe they ARE NOT the answers. You are also required to connect your rationales to concepts from that day’s class session. You will not be allowed to use your textbooks, study manuals, or notes—only your brains, so you must read, study, pay attention in class, and get the most from our discussions and interactions during that class session. You will receive credit for the correct answer, the quality of your rationales, and the connections you make to that day’s class session. You will not be allowed to make up any missed scenario solutions.

Photovoice project: Your life as a lingual student	(6% of grade)

[50 points] The first order of business for any teacher must be knowing their students: listening to their voices and learning who they are. In this first assignment of our class, I am asking you to talk to me—and others—about who you are. Specifically, because our class focuses on language in education, I am asking you to tell us about your life as a lingual student—as a student who uses language in learning. You will do this using a process called “photovoice” where you take photos, narrate them, and organize them into a story that you feel tells us about YOU and about language in your learning life—and that you can use to influence policy and educational decisions that affect you. Additional details to be provided in class.

Service learning project (SLP)	(23% of grade)

[190 points] As an opportunity to build your pedagogical and professional skills and knowledge and to integrate and apply what we discuss in class to a real-life teaching situation, you will tutor an EC-12 student who is an English learner for a minimum of 15 hours over at least 5 visits. This assignment is designed to help you understand the more complex, interpersonal, human dimensions of what is covered in the textbook by working directly with an EL student, and to develop your ability to use reflection and analysis to make connections between pedagogical concepts and your own practices and experiences (connecting stuff in class to real life). This assignment is divided into two parts as follows:

Face-to-face work with student (as evidenced via letter of commitment [40 points] and 2-part log sheet [50 points]). You will make arrangements to tutor an EL student. These arrangements can be made through a school of your choice or through an opportunity presented by the instructor. Additional details about these arrangements and expectations will be provided in class.² PLEASE BEGIN MAKING THESE ARRANGEMENTS IMMEDIATELY.

² The commitment between you and the school/principal/teacher/student is a professional one. If there is any indication from the teacher/principal/supervisor that your engagement is anything less than professional (e.g., that you are texting/using your phone while tutoring, that you dress unprofessionally, that you arrive late or do not show without communication),

You will document your arrangements through the letter of commitment and you will document your actual tutoring work with a 2-part log sheet to record evidence of each tutoring session:

Letter of Commitment: Using the letter provided on BB you will get signatures and contact information of the principal/teacher/supervisor in charge at the location where you will tutor. The signed letter is due (that is, your arrangements must be made by) Week 5. If signatures are missing or the letter is more than 1 week late, you will lose all 10 points. However, the completed letter MUST be submitted. If I do not receive a completed letter of commitment, you will not receive credit for the SLP assignment.

Log Sheet Part 1: You will use this to record date, time, and brief handwritten notes about each tutoring session, and to get the classroom teacher's or other supervisor's signature as evidence of each session.

Log Sheet Part 2: You will use this part to write more complete notes in a short summary that covers what happened in the session and *which concepts, terms, and ideas from class are connected to what happened. You will submit your completed log sheet with the reflective paper in Week 15. Your letter of commitment will be due in Week 5. Both items MUST BE SUBMITTED IN PDF FORMAT only. No other format will be accepted.

Reflective essay [100 points]. Developing your awareness and skills as a reflective practitioner is essential preparation for teaching. Reflection means thinking about what happened (what you did, what others did), how it compares to your objectives, how it relates to theory and your knowledge (in this case to our course content), and how you might change something in the future. The objective of this essay is for you to reflect on your SLP work and connect it to the concepts, terms, and ideas we have covered in class. It should be about 1,000 words long, and must connect at least 20 key terms to your SLP work. Additional guidelines and grading rubric for this paper will be provided in class. It is due in Week 14.

Public service announcements (PSAs)	(24% of grade)

[200 points, 2 PSAs at 100 points each] Misinformation about bilingual education and English learners abounds. Talk about both is never "JUST" about language, but instead always also intertwined with race, cultural difference, immigration, fairness, and inclusion/exclusion. Because people inside and outside schools make highly consequential decisions about bilingual education and ELLs, what they—teachers, administrators, parents, civic leaders, everyday voters, and policymakers—think and know about both is very important. And you, as a 21st century educator and member of our US-Mexico borderland community, have a special advantage and responsibility to do what you can to educate others. The purpose of these assignments is for you to develop your knowledge about a set of key topics in the course you will fail this assignment. On the other hand, if you feel uncomfortable in the classroom or school setting during this experience, please let me know immediately. We will address the situation to ensure that you are in a positive and professional environment while you do this assignment.

through applying it, analyzing it, and evaluating it and then packaging it and presenting it in clear, effective and engaging ways that others can easily understand. You will create 2 different public service announcements (PSAs) in electronic formats for different audiences using the information that we cover in this class. Your PSAs will take the format of ONE infographic and ONE short video (maximum of 60 seconds). Additional details to be provided in class.

In this culminating assignment you will connect the whole semester's course content, your photovoice project, your service learning, and your PSAs; it will be done in your PSA groups. As a group you will choose your strongest PSA, revise and refine it, identify and articulate connections with broader course content and with your SLP experience, and present it to the class through a PechaKucha style presentation (<http://www.pechakucha.org/>) (20 slides for 20 seconds each) on the final day of class. The most important part of the presentation will be the connections that you draw between the course content (key terms, concepts), your photovoice project, your SLP experiences, and the PSA content.

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Inclusiveness and equity

Learning happens only when we feel respected as a whole human being. My top priority in our classroom is to cultivate relationships of trust and respect and a sense that we see each other as whole, complex human beings. That you experience this in our classroom is important for the sake of your learning in our course and for the sake of your future students' learning, so that you know how to cultivate such relationships with them. To that end, I want you to know that all of you is welcome in our classroom space—all the parts of you as a person are welcome in our discussions, our activities, our assignments, and in our assessments. We are all complex people with a variety of perspectives, experiences, challenges, and resources—our gender identities, our sexual orientations, our religions, our races, our ethnicities, our economic statuses, our immigration statuses, our parenthoods, our veteran statuses, our ages, our languages, our abilities and disabilities. All the parts of you are welcome in our learning community to the extent that you feel comfortable bringing them in. I strive to show respect for the variety and wholeness in each of you, and I expect that each of you shows respect for each other as well. If you feel marginalized in our class, and you feel comfortable discussing it, I would like to know so that I can support you, protect you, and make changes that feel more inclusive and equitable. You can also talk with our Department Chair, Dr. Erika Mein, 915-747-7573 or elmein2@utep.edu, and/or you can report a complaint of discrimination to the University's Equal Opportunity Office, Kelly Hall, Third Floor, 915-747-5662 or eoaa@utep.edu.

Attendance

For every class session you miss, you automatically lose participation points (5), WRQ points (10), and SS points (5), so be in class. If you are late, you lose 2 participation points, and because WRQs are given in the first 10 minutes of class, you will lose any points associated with any parts of the quiz you are unable to finish. You will not be permitted to make up any of these points, and your weekly performance in class amounts to 34% of your grade. If you miss 3 or more class sessions, you will automatically be withdrawn from the course. If you have an emergency, contact me as soon as possible and please provide documentation.

Assignment submission

All assignments except weekly reading quizzes and scenarios must be submitted through BB by their respective deadlines. They are due at the beginning of class. The only formats accepted will be .pdf and Word .doc.

Academic citations

Please provide APA-style in-text and bibliographic citations for all your written work. Help with APA style academic citations is available on our BB site.

Electronic devices in class

Everyone's engagement with each other in class discussion is of the highest importance. Do not use any electronic device in class in such a way that it may give someone the impression that you are not listening to them. The burden is on YOU to demonstrate your engagement with others, not on others to decide whether you are engaged with them or not.

- No device should make noise.
- Texting is absolutely prohibited. Using your phone under the table, in your lap is also prohibited.
- Phones, laptops, tablets may be used only to access course reading or to take notes (and it must be clear to all around you that those are the activities you are engaged in) and when explicitly allowed for small-group in class activities that require them.
- If you have an emergency that requires your attention on your phone, tell me and others so we know that's why you're distracted.

- If it appears that you are not engaged with others because of a device, I will call you out. Be prepared for that.

Language policy for this course

This course is designed to develop your knowledge of and appreciation for bilingualism in your future students, in yourselves, and in our community. You are encouraged to use and develop your own biliteracy skills in this course. You may submit any formal assignment in English or in Spanish. For discussion and other group work, including whole-class, the most important criterion is that everyone has an opportunity to understand and to be understood—thus, any discussion group may use any variet(ies) of Spanish, English, both, or any other language, as long as the members of the group agree.

Changes to the syllabus

I strive to respond in my teaching to the sometimes-shifting conditions of our class community: current events, our discussions, our interests, our extant experiences, our needs for growth. Some changes may be made to the syllabus along the way. You will always be notified—or asked to participate in the decision to make changes—and, for significant changes, the updated syllabus will be made available on Blackboard. All versions have a version number in the header with the form year, month, day (e.g., 180109 for 2018, January 09).

Different abilities

If you have or believe you have a disability, you may wish to self-identify. You can do so by providing documentation to the Office of disabled Student Services located in Union E Room 203. Students who have been designated as disabled must reactivate their standing with the Office of Disabled Student Services on a yearly basis. Failure to report to this office will place a student on the inactive list and nullify benefits received. If you have a condition which may affect your ability to exit safely from the premises in an emergency or which may cause an emergency during class, you are encouraged to discuss this in confidence with the instructor and/or the director of Disabled Student Services. The Disabled Student Services Office can be reached at <http://www.utep.edu/dsso/>, (915) 747-5148 (voice or TTY), or dss@utep.edu.

Academic integrity

Students are expected to uphold the highest standards of academic integrity. Any form of scholastic dishonesty is an affront to the pursuit of knowledge and jeopardizes the quality of the degree awarded to all graduates of UTEP. Any student who commits an act of scholastic dishonesty is subject to discipline. Scholastic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to cheating; plagiarism; collusion; looking at a peer's quiz while you are taking yours; the submission for credit of any work or materials that are not attributable in whole or in part to another person; taking an examination for another person; any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student or the attempt to commit such acts. Proven violations of the detailed regulations, as printed in the Handbook of Operating Procedures (HOP) and available in the Office of the Dean of Students, may result in sanctions ranging from disciplinary probation, to failing grades on the work in question, to failing grades in the course, to suspension or dismissal among others. Refer to <http://sa.utep.edu/osccr/academic-integrity/> for further information.

Texas Bilingual Education Standards

[Standards II-IV are the focus of the course.]

- I. [The bilingual education teacher has communicative competence and academic language proficiency in the first language (L1) and in the second language (L2).] [This standard is not a focus of this class, though students in the class are encouraged to use their biliteracy in all aspects of the course.]
- II. The bilingual education teacher has knowledge of the foundations of bilingual education and the concepts of bilingualism and biculturalism.
- III. The bilingual education teacher knows the process of first and second language acquisition and development.
- IV. The bilingual education teacher has a comprehensive knowledge of the development and assessment of literacy in the primary language.
- V. The bilingual education teacher has a comprehensive knowledge of the development and assessment of biliteracy.
- VI. The bilingual education teacher has a comprehensive knowledge of content-area instruction in L1 and L2.

These standards are addressed through various competencies that future educators are expected to have within particular domains. The following competencies will be addressed and evaluated.

COMPETENCY 001

The bilingual education teacher understands the foundations of bilingual education and the concepts of bilingualism and biculturalism and applies this knowledge to create an effective learning environment for students in the bilingual education program.
