

ESOL 1311: Expository Composition for Speakers of English as a Second Language

CRN: 11236 / Semester/Year: Fall 2019

Instructor: Luz Garcia

Email: imgarcia@utep.edu

Office address: LART 120

Office Hours: Monday and Tuesday 1:30-3pm or by appointment

Course description

This course focuses on the development of composition skills and strategies in problem-based discourse. The main goal is to help students recognize various rhetorical patterns relevant to problem discovery, description, and definition, as well as those relevant to analytical and evaluative writing in both printed and multimodal texts. Students use writing to further develop their critical thinking abilities and continue developing their academic and language skills through class discussions, planning techniques, guided and timed writing practices, and purposeful feedback and revisions. The concept of genre is also introduced through various readings and writing activities as well as in-class discussions.

Hybrid course delivery

This section of ESOL 1311 is delivered in a hybrid format, with some class sessions held in the classroom and other instructional sessions or components conducted on-line. Hybrid classes demand that students develop good organizational and time-management skills, that they interact with instructors and classmates via computer-mediated communication as needed or required, and that students develop the ability to work independently. As with any other class, it is important to attend all sessions and it is crucial to devote the necessary computer time to the class (see attendance policy below).

Optional materials:

- Hacker, D., & Sommers, N. (2015). A writer's reference (with resources for multilingual writers and ESL), 8th Edition. Bedford/St. Martins.
- Any current monolingual collegiate dictionary such as Merriam-Webster's, Oxford, or Longman.

Objectives

At the end of the course, students will be able to:

- Understand the concept of genre and discourse communities as a conceptual framework to evaluate and compose texts.
- Conduct a rhetorical analysis of a multimedia text (e.g., website) and identify (con)textual variables related to purpose, audience, messages, style/register, and language usage.
- Identify and describe problems presented in texts (causes, effects, intervening factors) as well as strategies for solution.
- Analyze and evaluate claims and arguments related to specific problems or situations, and adopt a position regarding such problems or situations.
- Collect and synthesize information from multiple sources in order to compose well-argued proposals, describing possible alternatives or solutions to specific problems or situations.
- Employ effective strategies to develop well-organized, logical, and coherent problem-solution texts.

Major course assignments and exams

The following is an overview of assignments for this course. Specific guidelines, instructions, and recommendations for each assignment will be provided in class and/or through Blackboard by the instructor.

Rhetorical analysis report: Students select the website of a nonprofit organization that works on a particular social, political, or cultural domain, analyze it rhetorically (audience, goals, organization, message, format, etc.), and write up a report based on their analysis.

Evaluation essay: Working with the same problem already identified (see above), students locate a relevant argumentative or opinion text, evaluate the claims being made, and adopt a position about such claims. Alternative views from other sources may be included.

Problem/Solution: Students identify a specific social problem a non-profit organization is trying to solve and describe it in detail (e.g., participants, effects, components.). Potential causes are explored and reported. Moreover, students research various solutions attempted and results previously obtained (successful or not). Then, they propose a specific solution supporting their proposal with facts, and commenting on the necessary conditions for implementation.

Oral Presentations: Students will deliver a 10-15 minute oral presentation on the problem (or a specific aspect of it) explored through the aforementioned assignments. This also includes any other oral activities assigned by the instructor.

In-class writing exams: These timed writing exams (one before and one after the mid-term point) will focus on problem definition, a brief response to an essay-type question, and/or evaluative/argumentative writing (taking a position on a given statement).

Blackboard and Assignments: In addition to the projects described above, the course may include a variety of homework assignments and other tasks such as journal writing, Discussion board on Blackboard, quick in-progress reports, etc.

ESOL Language Lab

In addition to regular classroom sessions, students are required to complete 8 hours in the ESOL lab (located in Liberal Arts 238). The lab offers writing tutoring, computer-assisted language learning (CALL) activities, conversation practice, and a reading improvement program. These activities provide extended opportunities to review the topics covered in class and to engage in individual practice.

Attending ESOL lab sessions constitutes an important and required part of the course. Lab attendance should be ongoing throughout the semester. By the middle of the semester, you need to have completed at least 4 hours. You may attend the lab as much as you'd like, but only 2 hours per week will count toward the requirement. In some cases your instructor may assign an activity in the lab. The rest of the time you can choose your own activity.

Failure to complete the 8 hours will significantly lower the course grade. The class instructor will monitor students' attendance and work and assign a grade for weekly lab assignments. ESOL lab absences count the same as classroom absences.

Some Important ESOL Lab Policies*

- Students should follow all lab rules and procedures established by the Department of Languages and Linguistics.
- All students must bring their own headphones when working in the lab. The lab does not provide headphones.
- Only ESOL course-related work is allowed in the lab. Any activity unrelated to class may lead to suspension of lab privileges and/or failing the course.

- Food, drinks, chewing gum, and chatting or loud conversations are not allowed in the lab.
- Any disruptions or violation of lab rules will be reported to appropriate university authorities.

NOTE* The above is a partial list of ESOL lab rules and policies. An orientation to review additional rules and regulations is provided at the beginning of the semester. Rules and policies established for all UTEP computer labs also apply to the ESOL lab. It is the responsibility of the student to be aware of all relevant policies and regulations.

Extra Credit:

You have the option of earning up to a maximum of 2% extra credit towards your final grade in this course. You can do this by completing extra credit assignments towards the end of the course or by participating in one or more research studies (approved by the ESOL Director) if they are offered to your class. Each assignment or study participation is worth 1% extra credit.

NOTE: Some modifications or adjustments may be made to the assignments described above according to the needs of students in each section.

Departmental writing exam: As part of the course assessment, students are required to take a departmental writing exam, which will take place during final exams week. The exam essays will focus on problem-solving or evaluative/argumentative writing and will be rated in relation to organization and development, text and paragraph structure, academic language usage, and grammar and mechanics.

Grading

The final course grade is calculated as follows:

Web Analysis Report	5%
Oral presentations:	10%
In-class writing exams (2)	15%
Evaluation essay:	15%
Proposal essay:	10%
Blackboard/assignments/Quiz	15%
ESOL LAB	5%
Final departmental writing exam:	25%

Grades are assigned on this scale:

A	90-100%
B	80-89%
C	70-79%
D	60-69%
F	0-59%

In order to pass the course, a grade of “C” or higher must be obtained. If a lower grade is obtained, the course must be re-taken.

COURSE POLICIES

Assignments

- It is necessary to submit all major assignments and take the course exams in order to obtain a passing grade. All assignments must be completed and turned in on the scheduled dates. No late work will not be accepted. Exams must be taken on scheduled dates. No make-up exams will be given. Exceptions to these rules may be considered only for properly documented medical emergencies (or similar extraordinary circumstances).
- All work must be edited and revised. Written assignments that do not conform to the specifications outlined by the instructor may receive a failing grade. Students are strongly encouraged to go to the Writing Center in the library or to consult with ESOL tutors (depending on availability) in order to revise/edit their work before submitting it.

Documentation styles

- Instructors will introduce students to in-text, parenthetical documentation early in the semester and require these documentation conventions throughout the course. Students will learn and use the American Psychological Association (APA) or Modern Language Association (MLA) documentation format and style.
- The most important words in a paper are the students', not those found in sources consulted. Students should always strive to draw inferences from research material and weave into their papers their reaction and evaluation of source material.

Attendance and participation in class

- Attendance is mandatory and active participation (in-class and/or online) is required. All in-class and/or online activities are designed to help students learn the material and acquire effective skills and strategies. Instructors may drop students from the class if they miss too many classes (see attendance policy below) or class performance shows a lack of effort.

Mobile phones, laptops, and other electronic devices

Electronic devices can be a useful educational tool, but they can also be a distraction. Therefore, limited use of devices is allowed according to the following guidelines:

When the instructor is NOT using electronic devices as a teaching tool:

- Students must turn off their cell phones, pagers, iPads, MP3 players, and any other similar devices during class, unless otherwise instructed. Any unauthorized use of cell phones or electronic devices in class will be reported to the Dean of Students' Office.
- The use of laptops or similar devices while in the classroom may be prohibited if the instructor considers them a distraction.

When the instructor IS using electronic devices as a teaching tool:

- Students will limit the use of their devices to that indicated by their instructors.
- The use of electronic devices for activities unrelated to class work (i.e. checking email, surfing the web) is NOT permitted.
- In classes that meet in a computer lab, computer use unrelated to class work (i.e. checking email, surfing the web) is NOT permitted.
- On occasion your instructor may require that you bring a laptop or tablet to class. If you do not have access to one, the UTEP library can provide you with one to use.

Academic honesty

- Students are expected to adhere to and comply with standards of academic honesty. Academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. All cases will be reported to the Dean of Students for administrative and/or academic sanctions, which may include expulsion. All work submitted must be original (created by each student for the class) and any information from external sources must be properly cited. Work from other courses may not be submitted for a grade. Forms of academic dishonesty include (but are not limited to): collusion—lending one's work to another person to submit as his or her own; fabrication—deliberately creating false information on a works cited page, and plagiarism—the presentation of another person's work as one's own (i.e., copying parts of or whole papers off the Internet).
- Any type of cheating or plagiarism constitutes a violation of University policies and of the code of conduct to which all students must adhere. Violations are reported to the Dean of Students. See the website at <http://www.utep.edu/dos/acadintg.htm> for more information.
- As in any course, each student MUST do his/her own work. However, this does not rule out getting assistance or guidance from the class instructor or University tutors. It is important to differentiate between this type of help and non-acceptable types. Some examples of 'help' that is NOT acceptable include copying papers or parts of papers, copying on tests, using "cheat sheets," having someone else do one's work, letting someone else change parts of one's work, or using texts from a published source (magazine, book, or newspaper) without proper documentation.

Copyright and fair use

- The University of Texas at El Paso requires all members of its community to follow copyright and fair use requirements. Students are individually and solely responsible for violations of copyright and fair use laws. The University will neither protect nor defend students nor assume any responsibility for student violations of fair use laws. Violations of copyright laws could subject students to federal and state civil penalties and criminal liability, as well as disciplinary action under University policies.

Students who may require special accommodations

- Students who need special instructional accommodations due to a permanent or temporary disability are strongly encouraged to consult personnel in the Center for Accommodations and Support Services (CASS), located in the East Union Building, room 106. Students with a documented sensory and/or learning disability may receive special accommodations according to University policies. It is the student's responsibility to contact the instructor after contacting the CASS to ensure provision of such accommodations.

ATTENDANCE POLICY FOR ALL ESOL COURSES

To expand their language proficiency and academic literacy skills, students must be present in class in order to participate in class activities and engage in active practice. Good attendance is a course requirement. Therefore, if a student is absent an excessive number of times during the drop period (from the first day after the end of late registration through the last day for faculty to drop students), the instructor will drop the student from the course.

IMPORTANT RULES TO KEEP IN MIND:

- During the fall or spring semester, students will be dropped from a MWF class after four consecutive absences or after accumulating a total of six absences, and from a TR class after three consecutive absences or after accumulating a total of four absences. During a four-week summer session, students will be dropped after two consecutive absences or accumulating a total of three absences. It is also important to keep in mind that students can also be dropped from the class for lack of effort (e.g., not turning in major assignments on time). Exceptions due to medical emergencies or illness must be properly documented.
- Absences due to truly "exceptional" circumstances should be documented and reported to the class instructor as soon as possible in order to explain the situation (sending an email message is recommended). This does not necessarily mean that absences will be excused, but it gives the instructor an opportunity to assess the situation before dropping the student from the class.
 - Late arrivals and early departures also carry penalties for purposes of dropping or lowering the course grade (e.g., two late arrivals equal one absence, two early departures equal one absence, and one late arrival plus one early departure equal one absence). It is the responsibility of each student who arrives late to notify the instructor at the end of the class period so his/her attendance can be recorded.
- The final course grade can be lowered by 1.5 points for every absence in TR or MW courses, and 2.5 points for every absence in summer courses.

Exceptions to the above-stated attendance policies are only made under the following circumstances: (1) a properly documented (official proof) medical emergency requiring hospitalization, (2) properly documented (official proof) jury duty, or (3) properly documented (official proof) official UTEP business such as participation in athletic events, debate team, or music band events. Documented proof of official UTEP business or jury duty must be provided ten calendar days before the fact; documentation of hospitalization must be provided as soon as possible.

Important Note: The syllabus provides a general plan for the course; modifications may be necessary and implemented as a result of students' needs, course development, and classroom life in general.

ESOL SEQUENCE OF COURSES:

Students enrolled in ESOL courses are required to take courses in sequence according to their placement into the program. The sequence of courses in the ESOL program is as follows:

Level 1) ESOL 1910

Level 2) ESOL 1610

Level 3) ESOL 1406 & ESOL 1309 (both must be completed before enrolling in the next courses)

Level 4) ESOL 1311 & ESOL 1310 (both must be completed before enrolling in the next course)

Level 5) ESOL 1312

Level 6) ESOL 2303: Required of all majors in the College of Liberal Arts.

Note 1: ESOL 1311 and ESOL 1312 are credit-bearing courses with credits that count toward graduation, as they are equivalent to ENGL 1311 and ENGL 1312 (required first year composition courses at UTEP).

Note 2: All ESOL courses must be passed with a "C" or better before enrolling in the next course. Students who receive a D or F must retake the course and pass with a C or better before enrolling in the next level.
