

RWS 5346
Composition Theory & Pedagogy
-- Fall 2020 --
Tuesdays & Thursdays
1:30- 2:50

Meeting URL for our class:

<https://utep-edu.zoom.us/j/5674293382>

Contact Information

Dr. Lauren Rosenberg
(she/her/hers)

lmrosenberg@utep.edu

Office hours will be held online via Zoom on Tuesdays 3:00-4:00, Thursdays 12:00-1:00, and by appointment. You can use the URL for our class to meet in office hours too. I am also available at other days and times by appointment. Don't hesitate to reach out!

UTEP office: Hudspeth 311

Office phone: 915-747-5276

Although I am listing office information, please note that I do not expect to be on campus during the fall semester as recommended by UTEP's Resuming Campus Operations statements. Email is the best way to reach me. I check my email throughout the day, and will get back to you as soon as I can.

Catalog Description

Composition Theory and Pedagogy (3-0) An advanced course in English Composition theory and pedagogy of developmental English and first-year composition. 3 Credit Hours.

Course Description

Rhetoric and Writing Studies 5346, Composition Theory and Pedagogy prepares you for teaching the first-year composition courses RWS 1301 and 1302 by giving you a foundation in composition theory and pedagogy. It provides you with a rationale for why we make particular choices as teachers of writing, grounded in theorized, well-reasoned practice. The course addresses both theoretical and pedagogical issues associated with the teaching of writing. This includes theories of process, social constructivism, second-language writers, and information and digital literacies. It also includes more practical aspects of teaching such as curriculum and assignment design, assessment, classroom management, and teaching with technology.

Although you, as students in this course, represent various areas within English studies and other disciplines, this graduate course and the composition courses you will eventually teach focus on the rich scholarship within the field of Rhetoric and Writing Studies over the past 50+ years. You are expected to familiarize yourself with this field in order to teach the FYC courses 1301 and 1302 effectively. Toward that end, RWS 5346 challenges you to become a reflexive, self-critical practitioner through course readings, a reflective teaching journal on working in one-on-one (writing center, conference) settings in relation to the larger social space of the classroom; weekly reading responses; a review and presentation of a scholarly issue; discussion, and assignments that introduce you to writing pedagogy at the intersection of theory and practice at the same time that you are tutoring in the writing center. Topics to be addressed include writing as epistemology and ideology, rhetoric and inquiry, revision, evaluation and assessment, approaches to research, multilingual writing and diversity, and reflective pedagogy and teaching practices. By the end of the course, you should be able to articulate a pedagogy that reflects your theoretical and practical approaches to teaching in this discipline.

Learning Outcomes

At the end of this course, students will be able to:

- Demonstrate understanding of some of the theories of rhetoric and composition that have influenced the teaching of first-year composition
 - Identify one's own pedagogical approach within the broader context of college writing instruction.
 - Explore and learn practical aspects of teaching such as curriculum design, writing assignments, responding to student work, concerns of multilingual writers, peer response and collaboration, grammar/language instruction, planning and leading a class discussion, and formative and evaluative assessment of student writing.
 - Grasp key concepts, processes and strategies in academic, information and digital literacies.
 - Explain reading, writing, and researching as situated decision-making processes.
 - Think about how different stakeholders—the student population, the various disciplines, the university, and the public/local communities—affect the classroom in order to understand the boundaries and challenges of our responsibilities as writing teachers.
-

Texts

Coxwell-Teague, Deborah and Ronald E. Lunsford, eds. First-Year Composition: From Theory to Practice. Parlor Press, 2014.

Glenn, Cheryl and Melissa A. Goldthwaite, eds. The St. Martin's Guide to Teaching Writing. 7th ed. Bedford/St. Martin's, 2014.

Additional required reading available on Blackboard as PDFs

Assignments

Preparing to Teach Journal	ungraded
Reading Responses	45% (5% each)
Teaching Observation Reviews and Self-Assessment	10%
Presentation of Scholarly Research	25%
Final Project	20%

Preparing to Teach Journal

Your Preparing to Teach journal will function as a record of your experiences in RWS 5346 this semester, representing your (daily/weekly/project) ideas and reflections on assignments and course design. It will consist of entries that are comprised of your representation of teaching strategies, practice, activities, and critical reflection on the effects of those strategies, practices, and activities. You will be expected to post in your teaching journal weekly using the Journal tool on our Blackboard page, but of course, you are welcome to use it as you wish to reflect on readings, discussions, interactions in the writing center, and reflections from your grad classes. Journal entries will not be graded, but you will refer to them throughout the semester. Your journal can be a resource for all assignments in this course—you may quote from it and excerpt bits of it for reflection as a means of examining your philosophy and practice. You will also reflect on material in your teaching journal as part of your final project.

Reading Responses [9 X 5% each = 45%]

You will have a reading response due 9 times during the semester. Your reading responses should be 300-500 words double-spaced and are due by the beginning of each class on Thursday. Your reading response will review all assigned reading for that week while reflecting back on recent reading that impacts your current thinking. It is fine to explain the main objectives of an article/chapter, but your goal is not to summarize. Rather, I would like to see you discuss what provokes your thinking. You will complete your response by posing topics of inquiry for that week's class discussion: What issues/problems/questions does the group of readings raise that you think we need to focus on as a group? Where do you see contradictions? What troubles you? What ideas stand out to you and challenge your thinking?

Teaching Observation Reviews and Self-Assessment [10%]

For this assignment, you will observe two different teachers teaching a 1301 or 1302 class online and write a 1-2 page review (typed, singled-spaced) of each class, documenting your observations. The review should be descriptive and reflective; for example, discuss what you noticed about the teachers' approach, lesson, assignments, and interaction with students rather than what they did wrong. Along with the reviews, you should also reflect critically on how your observations influence your own teaching approach. What did you notice in your peer's class that offers insights about how you will plan your class (your students, teaching persona online, activities for whole/small group discussion or use of discussion boards, approach to peer review, use of Blackboard, assignment design), etc? The set of reviews, plus your additional page of self-assessment is due on October 15.

Presentation of Scholarly Research [25%]

For this assignment, you will research one issue relevant to teaching composition that we have covered in our course readings that you find important to your development as a writing teacher.

The assignment requires 4-6 additional sources and research into that pedagogical perspective beyond the course reading, just as you would do when researching another issue in composition studies (see bulleted list below). Please have all sources approved by Lauren before starting your research.

This project consists of 3 parts:

- Informal proposal of one page with justification for value of research project, due October 8.
- Annotated Bibliography--3-5 additional sources beyond what we have read and discussed in class. Sources should come from composition journals such as College Composition and Communication, College English, JAC, Research in the Teaching of English, Written Communication, Composition Forum, enculturation, WPA Journal, Writing Center Journal, Journal of Basic Writing, and other scholarly journals in the field. Book chapters are also acceptable but must be approved by me.
- Presentation of Research (10 minutes + 5 minutes for discussion and engagement with the class=15 minutes) that discusses the major issues you examined in your research.
- 1-2 page handout. Handouts will be posted using the blog feature on Bb. Handouts should not outline chapters in the articles you read. They should not repeat information from the annotated bib.
- Presentations will be during class on Zoom November 10,12 and 17.

What Does it Mean to Be a Teacher of Writing at UTEP?—final project [20%]

This assignment reflects on and analyzes your preparation to become a teacher in UTEP's first-year composition program. In response to this course, you will answer the question: What Does It Mean To Be a Teacher of Writing? in an essay of 10-15 pages (double spaced, 12 point font) that includes:

A Teaching Philosophy Statement in which you

- articulate your approach and commitments in a narrative
- refer to 6 or more articles we have read in class and/or that you consulted for your research project that have influenced your philosophy

Preliminary Ideas/Plans/Strategies for teaching RWS 1301/1302. In this descriptive, practical section of the paper, you may include artifacts you have considered over the semester, such as, selections from the 1301/1302 syllabus templates or handbook, extracts from your preparing to teach journal, and notes from your observation reviews 3-5 pages. You can also reflect on discussions in RWS 5346 and your work as a consultant in the writing center.

Theorize Your Position as a Teacher. For example, do you consider yourself a Freireian instructor who is focused on the ways students can design their education to suit their needs and make social changes? Are you influenced by feminist, anti-racist principles? Are digital literacies central to the teaching of writing and the approach you will take with your future students?

Course Policies and Responsibilities

Participation and Engagement

For many of you, this is your first graduate-level course; others of you may already be familiar with the expectations for graduate coursework. So, you either already know or you have a sneaking suspicion that a graduate class requires a great deal of commitment. The reading, writing, and research load can be overwhelming. While I expect you to read everything assigned, and often produce a written response to what you just read, don't belabor every point. Quickly learn to isolate key arguments; make notes for yourself that will be useful as you continue your research; continually make connections. Class participation on Zoom and keeping up with the readings—whether online or face-to-face—are essential. You are expected to attend class virtually with your video on, prepared and ready to engage with the material. You are also expected to treat others with courtesy and respect, which includes (but is not limited to) active listening and thoughtful response.

Online Course Delivery

In fall 2020, RWS 5346 will be held online on Zoom. We have the option to meet face-to-face on 7 Tuesdays; but, based on the university's recommendation that students and faculty work from home for safety, we will have our classes synchronously online.

We will use 2 platforms for this class. All synchronous class meetings will be held through Zoom via a recurring URL. You can also use this URL to meet with me outside of class time. Materials for the course and assignments will be posted on Blackboard. You can access the Zoom meeting through the Blackboard page for this class. All of your course documents will be housed in Blackboard, and in lieu of creating handouts for your classmates, you will post handouts or reports you create in the Discussions area. Unless noted, all major assignments should be submitted via our Bb course page by class time on the due date. Since Bb comments and grades function works best with Microsoft Word, please submit all assignments in Microsoft Word. Be sure to name each submitted assignment with your name and the title of the assignment.

Blackboard is not a public internet venue; all postings to it should be considered private and confidential. Whatever is posted on in these online spaces is intended for your classmates and instructor only. Please do not copy documents and paste them to a publicly accessible website, blog, or other space. If students wish to do so, they have the ethical obligation to first request the permission of the writer(s).

In order to succeed in the course, you will need to have regular use of the internet and a stable connection. If you don't have a computer or reliable internet, the university can help you with laptops and WIFI hotspots. You can get the forms to apply for these at <https://www.utep.edu/technologysupport/learningremotely.html>. There are also computers available for you to use in the library on campus.

Attendance and Lateness

As graduate students, you are expected to attend and participate fully in every class session. Students who anticipate being absent need to notify me ahead of time, although this does not excuse the absence. More than two absences (equivalent to one week of class) may jeopardize your ability to pass the course. That said, during the current pandemic, situations may arise that make it impossible for you to attend class or to attend punctually. Although our class will be primarily synchronous online, I am aware that there may be occasions when someone has to miss class, and I will make the effort to record those classes and post the video for you to watch later. But I urge you to be in communication with me, and perhaps one or two trusted classmates, if anything comes up. If you are going to be late for class for any reason, please join the class rather than missing it and getting marked absent. If you are late, it is still possible to benefit from the lesson.

There is no late work policy. Please speak with me if you need more time to complete an assignment or if you would like to revise and resubmit your work. I usually appreciate it when students want to spend more time doing research or revising their writing.

Please retain all your work until final grades are posted.

Your teaching assistant or assistant instructor funding is dependent upon passing this course with at least a B.

Pertinent University Policies

Academic Integrity

The University of Texas at El Paso prides itself on its standards of academic excellence. In the classroom and in all other academic activities, students are expected to uphold the highest standards of academic integrity. Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, collusion, the submission for credit of any work or materials that are attributable in whole or in part to another person, taking an examination for another person, and any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student or the attempt to commit such acts. Instructors are required to report the suspected academic dishonesty to the Office of Student Affairs. Visit the Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution page for more information on Academic integrity.

Accommodations

UTEP is committed to providing reasonable accommodations and auxiliary services to students, staff, faculty, job applicants, applicants for admissions, and other beneficiaries of University programs, services and activities with documented disabilities in order to provide them with equal opportunities to participate in programs, services, and activities in compliance with sections 503 and 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990 and the Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments Act (ADAAA) of 2008. Reasonable accommodations will be made unless it is determined that doing so would cause undue hardship on the University. Students requesting an accommodation based on a disability must register with the UTEP Center for Accommodations and Support Services (CASS). Students are encouraged to visit CASS in room 106, Union East Building or contact them at 747-5148 or cass@utep.edu.

Military Students

If you are a military student (veteran, dependent, active) please visit the Military Student Success Center. I also recognize the complexities of being a student veteran. If you are a student veteran, please inform me if you need special accommodations. Drill schedules, calls to active duty, complications with GI Bill disbursement, and other unforeseen military and veteran-related developments can complicate your academic life. If you make me aware of a complication, I will do everything I can to assist you or put you in contact with university staff who are trained to assist you.

Important Dates for Fall 2020 Semester

Aug 24th	Fall classes begin
Aug 24-28th	Late Registration Period
Sept 7th	Labor Day Holiday- University Closed
Sept 9th	Fall Census Day
	Note: This is the last day to register for classes.

Sept 21st	20 th Class Day
Oct 22nd	Midterm Fall 2020 Grades Due
Oct 30th	Fall Drop/Withdrawal Deadline
	Note: Student-initiated drops are permitted after this date, but the student is not guaranteed a grade of W. The faculty member of record will issue a grade of either W or F.
Nov 13th	Deadline to submit candidates' names for commencement program
Nov 26-27th	Thanksgiving Holiday - University Closed
Dec 3rd	Fall - last day of classes
Dec 4th	Dead Day
Dec 7-11th	Fall Final Exams

Course Schedule

Note that class will be held synchronously on Zoom unless previously arranged.
All assignments are due via Blackboard by class time on the day they are posted as due.

Week	Tuesday	Thursday
1	Aug 25 Intro to RWS 5346 Introductions and first day discussion Syllabus review	Aug 27 What is Composition Pedagogy? Coxwell-Teague and Lunsford, "Setting the Table: Composition in the Last Half of the Twentieth Century" [introduction, First-Year Comp] WPA Outcomes Statement http://wpacouncil.org/aws/CWPA/asset_manager/get_file/350909?ver=3315
2	Sept 1 Teaching Writing as a Process About Writing Mathieu, "A Guiding Question, Some Primary Research, and a Dash of Rhetorical Awareness" [chapter 5, First-Year Comp]	Sept 3 What it Means to Write in the University Bartholomae, "Inventing the University" [pdf] Eubanks and Shaeffer, "A Kind Word for Bullshit: The Problem of Academic Writing." [pdf]

	Downs and Wardle, "Looking into Writing-about-Writing Classrooms" [chapter 11, First-Year Comp]	Reading Response 1
3	Sept 8 Audience Ede and Lunsford, "Audience Addressed/ Audience Invoked" [pdf] Elbow, "Closing My Eyes as I Speak" [pdf]	Sept 10 Invention and Argument "Teaching Invention" [Ch. 6, St. Martin's] Presentations from Teaching Journals 1 Reading Response 2
4	Sept 15 Expressive Pedagogy Burnham and Powell, "Expressive Pedagogy" [pdf] Goldblatt, "Don't Call it Expressivism" [pdf]	Sept 17 Reading & Interpreting Difficult Texts Salvatori, "The 'Argument of Reading' in the Teaching of Composition" [pdf] Bean, "Helping Students Read Difficult Texts" [pdf] Reading Response 3
5	Sept 22 Mindful Critical Reading Bunn, "Motivation and Connection: Teaching Reading (and Writing) in the Composition Classroom" [pdf] Carillo, "Creating Mindful Readers in First-Year Composition Courses: A Strategy to Facilitate Transfer" [pdf]	Sept 24 Everyday Activities "Everyday Activities" [Ch.3, St. Martin's] Presentations from Teaching Journals 2 Reading Response 4
6	Sept 29 Collaboration, Peer Response, & Group Conferencing	Oct 1 Composing and Revising Perl, "Understanding Composing" [pdf]

	Bishop, "Helping Peer Writing Groups Succeed" [St. Martin's Guide] Miller, "Using Group Conferences to Respond to Essays in Progress" [pdf]	Sommers, "Revision Strategies of Student Writers and Experienced Adult Writers" [pdf] Rose, "Rigid Rules, Inflexible Plans, and the Stifling of Language: A Cognitivist Analysis of Writer's Block" [pdf] Reading Response 5
7	Oct 6 Responding to Writing "Evaluating Student Essays" [Ch. 5, St. Martin's] Sommers, "Responding to Student Writing" [St. Martin's Guide]	Oct 8 Responding to Students' Papers Smith, "The Genre of the End Comment: Conventions in Teacher Responses to Student Writing" [pdf] Batt, "The Rhetoric of the End Comment." [pdf] Proposal for research study due
8	Oct 13 Preparing to Do Research "Writing Assignments" [Ch.4, St. Martin's] Davis and Shadle, "'Building a Mystery': Alternative Research Writing and the Academic Act of Seeking Author(s)" [pdf] Presentations from Teaching Journals 3	Oct 15 Attribution and the Problem of Plagiarism Robillard, "Revising the Plagiarism... Metaphor" [pdf] Price, "Beyond 'Gotcha!': Situation Plagiarism in Policy and Pedagogy" [pdf] Moore Howard, "Forget About Policing Plagiarism. Just Teach." [pdf] Teaching Observations—Reviews & Assessments due
9	Start Oct 20 Language Diversity	Oct 22 Language Diversity

	Leki, "Meaning and Development of Academic Literacy in a 2nd Language" [St. Martin's] Matsuda, "The Myth of Linguistic Homogeneity in U.S. College Composition" [St. Martin's] Horner, Lu, Royster, Trimbur, "Opinion: Language Difference in Writing: Toward a Translingual Approach" [St. Martin's]	Canagarajah, "ESL Composition as a Literate Art of the Contact Zone" [chapter 2, First-Year Comp] Mangelsdorf, "Spanglish as Alternative Discourse: Working Against Language Demarcation" [pdf] Reading Response 6
10	Oct 27 Language Diversity Here at Home Brunk-Chavez, Mangelsdorf, Wojahn, Urzua-Beltran, Montoya, Thatcher, Valentine, "Exploring the Context of US-Mexican Border Writing Programs [pdf] Wojahn, Brunk-Chavez, Mangelsdorf, Al-Khateeb, Tellez-Trujillo, Churchill, Flores, "When the First Language You Use is Not English" [pdf] Presentations from Teaching Journals 4	Oct 29 Difference and Writing Instruction (1) Smitherman, "'God Don't Never Change': Black English From a Black Perspective" [pdf] Students' Right to Their Own Language http://www.ncte.org/library/NCTEFiles/Groups/CC/CC/NewSRTOL.pdf Smitherman, "'Students' Right to Their Own Language': A Retrospective" [pdf] Young, "Should Writer's Use They Own English?" [pdf] Reading Response 7
11	Nov 3 Difference and Writing Instruction (2) Delpit, "The Politics of Teaching Literate Discourse" [pdf] Greenfield, "The 'Standard English' Fairy Tale" [pdf]	Nov 5 Politics of Grading and the FYC Curriculum Inoue, "A Grade-Less Writing Course That Focuses on Labor and Assessing" [chapter 4, First-Year Comp] Villanueva, "For the Love of Language: A Curriculum" [chapter 10, First-Year Comp] Reading Response 8

	CCCC Executive Committee, "This Ain't Another Statement! This is a Demand for Black Linguistic Justice!" https://cccc.ncte.org/cccc/demand-for-black-linguistic-justice
12	Nov 10 Student Presentations of Research	Nov 12 Student Presentations of Research
13	Nov 17 Student Presentations of Research	Nov 19 New Media Literacies Selfe, "Toward New Media Texts" [St. Martin's] Shipka, "Beyond Text and Talk: A Multimodal Approach to First-Year Composition" [chapter 8, First-Year Comp] Reading Response 9
14	Nov 24 Disability Studies and Writing Instruction Kerschbaum, "Avoiding the Difference Fixation" [St. Martin's] Wood, "Crippling Time" [pdf]	Nov 26 Thanksgiving holiday—no class
15	Dec 1 First Semester Restaino, Jessica, "Labor and Endlessness: Necessity and Consumption in the First Semester" [pdf]	Dec 3 Last class Continued discussion of Restaino Peer Review of final project drafts in breakout rooms.

		What to do after 5346—continued support, pedagogy workshops, etc, during spring semester and fall 2021
	Final Project due Monday Dec 7 submitted by 11:59 pm	