COURSE DESCRIPTION

The sub-continent of India, alternatively hailed as an emerging world power and commiserated over as a country that continues to remain less developed, is an apt representation of the complicated ways in which globalization is unfolding across the world. Surrounded by the Himalayan mountain ranges in the north which feed India’s major rivers, the majority of the country’s population depends on small-scale agriculture, while southern India’s metropolises are beacons of information technology-led urban growth. The diversity of India’s cultural heritage, including its mix of religions and languages, juxtaposed with the use of English in education and government, add further to its striking urban-rural contrasts. This course will examine diverse strands of India’s culture and society to highlight both the unique identity of India as well as its links to global flows. In the process, its aim is to understand how the study of India as regional entity improves our ability to analyze the complex construction of the contemporary world.

The objectives of this course are to:

- understand the varied dimensions of India’s culture and society,
- enhance a critical approach that is attentive to inequalities and diversities,
- situate India within contemporary global flows, and
- improve written and oral communication skills through assignments and class discussions.
- improve research skills through conduct of library research and writing a research paper.
ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

Attendance, In-class and Take-home Assignments: 20%

Supplementary Course Information

Class Environment: It is important to recognize that the classroom is an environment that requires respect for all participants. Therefore, students are expected to conduct themselves in a considerate manner. All participants in the class must respect the classroom environment by being on time, turning off cellphones, earphones, and headphones, avoiding extraneous talking and chatting, refraining from reading non-class material, and by not eating during class time.

Help with Writing: The University Writing Center (Library Building, Room 227, Tel. 747-5112) provides walk-in assistance with writing to all UTEP students at no cost (including walk-in assistance and on-line assistance with writing and citations). Check the website – http://uwc.utep.edu/index.php/hours-location – for a Spring 2016 schedule and more information.

Special Facilities: Individuals who have any disability, either permanent or temporary, which might affect their ability to perform in this class, must inform the instructor at the start of the semester. Adaptations of methods, materials, or testing may be made as required for equitable participation.

Incomplete Grades: Incomplete grades (I) will not be given in the course except under exceptional circumstances, based on written documentation, and at the discretion of the instructor.

Religious Preference Absence: Students who anticipate being absent from class due to the observation of a major religious activity must provide written notice of the dates to the instructor by the second week of the semester.

Selling Class Notes and Audio / Video Recordings: It is not permitted to sell notes and audio /video recordings from this class. If you need audio and video recordings of the class for personal study, please inform the instructor and obtain permission before doing so.

Academic Dishonesty: Cheating is unethical and not acceptable. Plagiarism is using information or original wording in a paper without giving credit to the source of that information: it is also not acceptable. Do not submit work under your name that you did not do yourself. If you are found to be cheating or plagiarizing, you will be subject to disciplinary action, per UTEP catalog policy. Refer to http://sa.utep.edu/osccr/academic-integrity/ for further information.
