- Course Description: This course focuses on proportional and algebraic reasoning for prospective elementary teachers. Topics include ratios as measures, ratios as multiplicative comparisons, proportions, rates of change, patterns, linear functions and solving linear equations, inequalities and systems. The focus is on identifying relationships between quantities in contextualized problems, using inductive reasoning to identify patterns and express them algebraically making connections among verbal, graphic, numeric and symbolic representations, solving problems, using concrete numeric, tabular, graphic and algebraic methods, and addressing student's misconceptions and errors.
- Course Objectives: Students will
- (a) deepen their understanding of ratios, proportions, change, and functions by explaining why and making connections;
  - (b) strengthen their quantitative reasoning and algebraic reasoning;
  - (c) conceive mathematics as a problem solving endeavor that involves sense-making and thinking; and
  - (d) develop the habits of attending to meaning, of analyzing problem situations, and of making conjectures and providing justifications; and
  - (e) develop the skills of active reading and understanding mathematical texts.

Course Activities/Assignments:

This course uses the support of learning communities and the active participation of students to create, enhance, and support conceptual mathematical understanding. Students should be able to make connections between mathematical concepts and their out of school application. Students are expected to analyze course materials in a genuine search for further mathematical clarification, complete individual online homework, and submit reflection prior to each class meeting. During class meetings, students will clarify their understandings, apply their knowledge to solve challenging problems, and take an in-class assessment. Homework will be assigned after each class meeting. Students will need to have internet access to sites like Blackboard and MyMathLab.

IMPORTANT: Students must read the material before the class to understand the material taught in class and be ready to take the quiz.

Assessment of Course Objectives:

- In-class assessments are administered at the end of the sections. The questions in these assessments are designed to assess your understanding of the assigned readings and online work.
- Online assignments are done via MyMathLab, which requires to have an access code. MymathLab homeworks will be not accepted on paper (there is no excuse).
- Group and individual projects are posted via MyMathLab or Blackboard and will be presented the date indicated by the teacher.
- Online assignments are posted on MyMathLab and are due the date indicated by the teacher.
- Examinations are based on your understanding of the concepts. Some exam problems are similar to those in the textbook, in-class assessments, and in-class activities. Most problems require you to think and apply your understanding. To compensate for the higher-cognitive demand questions, the following scale is used for exams:

- A  $\geq$  80%
- B 70% - 80%
- C 60% - 70%
- D 45% - 60%
- F < 45%

- The final examination is comprehensive.
