

Pedagogy of Instrumental Music, Graduate Level: MUSE 5397

Fall 2018 Syllabus

INSTRUCTOR: Dr. Stephen Nordstrom, Assistant Professor of Violin
EMAIL: sbnordstrom@utep.edu PHONE: (940) 597-6035 cell or (915) 747-5607 office

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course provides graduate students with a broad overview of available pedagogical resources for modern string teaching and playing. The course material will include historical treatises, method books, scales and technical studies, etudes, and graded repertoire. Each topic of discussion will be addressed through independent research, reading and discussion, and the practical application of concepts and exercises. The final project will involve a thorough technical analysis of chosen repertoire.

*The majority of this course will be completed through independent study. Class meetings will be scheduled through email and will be devoted to discussion of the assigned material, pedagogical demonstrations, and guiding students through the assigned projects. Students are encouraged to schedule individual appointments as needed throughout the semester.

OBJECTIVES

- Understanding and appreciation of the arts, culture, and history through musical study, research, and performance
- Achieve advanced technical and artistic skills and musical creativity through pedagogy and performance
- Develop a thorough knowledge of available pedagogical resources for the modern string teacher and performer
- Learn to develop lesson plans for individual students and to choose appropriate technical exercises and repertoire for students of all levels

REQUIRED LITERATURE and REPERTOIRE

There are no required texts for the course. Students are highly encouraged to expand their personal musical library through the purchase of the method books, technical studies, etudes, and solo repertoire discussed in class.

EVALUATION

Students will complete three major assignments demonstrating a historical understanding of pedagogy and methods, the application and proper progression of technique and exercises, and the thorough analysis of repertoire. Assignments will be due by Friday at 11:59 pm on the dates listed below. They will be submitted to me through email: sbnordstrom@utep.edu
